Board Acts to Re-Submit School Bonds

DECIDES CLOSE VOTE JUSTIFIES 2ND ELECTION

Seeks Approval of State Tax Commission to Put Issue on Ballot Again.

VOTE HOLDS UP U. S. GRANT

Butler and Shelby Bonds and Shelby Levy Given Passing Majorities in Primary.

The Mansfield board of education today took steps to re-submit the $550,000 school bond issue at a special election, and planned a second campaign to win over at least 410 votes by which the issue was defeated at Tuesday's primary.

H. W. Arlin, board president, said conferences are to be arranged with the state department of education and the state tax commission for submitting the proposal again. Consent of the tax commission must be obtained before the proposal can be re-submitted.

Lacks 410 Votes.

A special meeting of the school board was held yesterday after the vote tabulation disclosed the issue was defeated 5,558 to 3,624, lacking the required 65 per cent majority by 410 votes.

Board members said that the close vote warranted consideration of plans to submit the proposal to the electorate again.

W. L. Miller, superintendent of schools, informed the state department of education today of the issue's defeat. Recommendations concerning re-submission of the issue are expected from the department on Miller's return from a week's vacation next week. He left with his family today for Ocean City, N. J.

Would Have Built 2 Schools.

Defeat of the issue lost for Mansfield, for the time being at least, a $450,000 grant from federal funds to be used with the $550,000 the bonds would have raised, for building two new junior high schools and carrying on an extensive improvement program in antiquated buildings of the city school system.

Arlin explained that before a special election is called, several factors concerning re-submission of the bonds would first have to be

NEW CHARGE

Dwyer Says Carroll Once Attempted Extortion.

SOUTH PARIS, Me. —(U.P.)— Paul (Buddy) Dwyer added extortion to his list of accusations against Francis M. Carroll in a statement read today to the jury hearing Carroll's trial on a charge of murdering a country doctor.

The statement signed by Dwyer said that Carroll once tried to extort $50,000 from a former employer.

The 19-year-old youth previously had charged the ousted deputy sheriff with committing the murder for which Dwyer himself is serving a life term, and of incest with a daughter before Dwyer seduced her.

Dwyer in the statement admitted typing two extortion notes to George R. Morton, president and manager of the South Paris Manufacturing company, for whom Carroll formerly had worked 15 years, but said he did so only when Carroll threatened his life.

REV. HERMAN L. GILBERT

GERMAN PLANE CROSSES OCEAN

Passes Newfoundland, Heads Southward Toward Boston and New York.

BULLETIN

BOSTON— (AP) —Nearing the end of its projected non-stop flight from Berlin to New York, the German airplane Brandenburg reported her position to the Radio Marine corporation at 1 p. m. (EST) today as 30 miles northeast of Boston.

(By Associated Press)

BOSTON—A report received at 8 a. m. (EST) by the Radio Marine corporation today placed the German transatlantic plane Bradenburg over Notre Dame bay, on the northern coast of Newfoundland. The plane was flying at about 2,000 feet.

Notre Dame bay is less than 1,000 miles from Boston and the plane's course, if continued, would cross Newfoundland and Nova Scotia and down the New England coast.

An hour later, the Bradenburg gave her position as over Capt St. George, on the southwest coast of Newfoundland, near the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

In her next hourly report, at 10 a. m., the German ship said she was flying over the Magdalen Islands, in the gulf, and north of Prince Edward island.

DAVEY STAYS HOME TO REST

Says He Isn't Yet Ready To Comment On Primary Defeat.

KENT—(AP)—Continuing to rest at his home here today, Gov. Martin L. Davey said he did not expect to issue any statment about his Democratic gubernatorial primary defeat immediately.

Asked whether he intended to support Charles Sawyer in the fall campaign, Davey repeated he was "not ready to make any comment" about the primary election or his future plans.

The governor declared the primary campaign was the "most strenuous" in which he ever engaged.

DEMS TO MEET AUG. 24

Committee Head to Be Named; G. O. P. Nominee Doubts If Rival Can 'Clean Up Mess.'

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS — Confronted immediately after his nomination by a Republican challenge of his ability to "clean up" the state government if elected, Charles Sawyer, the new Democratic candidate for governor, today issued his first call to arms of Democrats for the fall campaign.

From his home in Glendale, Sawyer, triumphant by 31,000 votes over Gov. Martin L. Davey, wired Earl T. Hanefeld, state agriculture director and chairman of the state central committee, to call a committee meeting in Columbus for Aug. 24 for selection of a new state chairman, who will direct the campaign.

'Several in Mind.'

He advised Hanefeld he had "several persons in mind" but that his decision would not be made until after a short vacation. The new candidate probably will go to Long Island, N. Y., for a brief rest.

It is customary for the gubernatorial nominee virtually to dictate the choice of chairman, and this will be done in Sawyer's case. State Chairman Francis W. Poulson had said he would step out irrespective of the results in yesterday's election.

The names of Arthur L. Limbach, New Philadelphia, and John Quinilivan, Toledo, both vice chairmen of Sawyer's campaign committee, have been mentioned prominently in discussions of a new chairman. Judge Hugh L. Nichols, Batavia, Sawyer's campaign chairman, and William J. Leonard, Hamilton county leader, also were discussed.

Mansfield In 'No' List As 65 Cities O. K. Tax Hikes

City's Neighbors Give Passing Majorities on Bond Issues, Special Levies, Vote Survey Reveals.

Mansfield was listed today with other cities over the state as one of those that voted down its school bond issues, while a long list of cities and villages that approved its bond issues at the polls Tuesday included many of Mansfield's neighbors.

Of the 308 bond issues that were placed on Ohio ballots Tuesday about 41 per cent of them were approved by the voters while a little less than 60 per cent were turned down. About 62 major proposals were frowned upon while 65 were approved.

Galion, Shelby Approve.

While Mansfield lost its million dollar school building program when its $550,000 bond issue failed to carry by 410 votes Tuesday, Galion approved a $54,000 bond issue which will replace their elementary east side school, the last of the old buildings in the city. Loudonville accepted a $93,000 indebtedness by a vote of 836 to 235, for a school improvement program.

To the east of Mansfield, Massillon voters approved a bond issue of approximately half a million dollars for its million dollar school program, while Findlay voted "for" on its $235,000 school proposal. Steubenville's $500,000 bond issue passed by the narrow margin of 20 votes.

Mansfield's neighbor to the northwest, Shelby, approved $100,000 in bonds for waterworks improvement and a one mill levy for operating expenses. Butler village, to the southeast, voted for a $49,000 bond issue for a new high school.

Fostoria approved a $247,000 proposal while two schools in

TRUCE HALTS SOVIET-JAPAN BORDER 'WAR'

Diplomats Agree to End Fighting, Keep Troops in Places They Hold on Aug. 10.

WILL RE-DEFINE BORDER

Commissions to Be Named to Deal With Thorny Problem of Demarcation.

(By Associated Press)

MOSCOW—The vest-pocket war on the Siberian frontier which threatened to involve Russia and Japan in a major conflict, appeared well on the way to peaceful settlement today.

Both sides agreed to a truce after a peace parley between the Soviet Russian foreign minister, Maxim Litvinoff, and the Japanese ambassador, Mamoru Shigemitsu, and to order their forces to cease military operations at noon today, Changkufeng time (10 p. m. Wednesday EST).

Main Point Settled.

Not all points of the dispute over the frontier position about Changkufeng hill, center of trouble since July 11, were cleared up by the agreement—the basis for re-defining the border remained a thorny problem which could start new quarrels.

The one main point was settled, however: Both sides agreed to stop fighting.

A communique announced Japan and Russia had decided that their respective troops would remain in positions they held at midnight Aug. 10.

A commission of two Soviet representatives and two Japanese Manchoukuo representatives was agreed upon to deal with demarcation of the frontier.

The Soviet communique this morning specifically stated, however, that "agreement had not been reached about the basis for work of the demarcation commission.'

Disagree Over Maps.

In other words, Tokyo had not agreed to recognize maps attached to the Hunchun treaty of 1886, between Russia and China, which Moscow heretofore has insisted must be recognized as authoritative in determining the boundary.

The Japanese ambassador promised, however, the Soviet communique said, to consult his government on this point, which may mean a compromise is in sight to forestall any new outbreak in the border quarrel.

Shigemitsu had sought to have the demarcation based on other data, not yet submitted to the Soviet government.

Japan has held the Hunchun treaty maps never were published and that Japan has no knowledge of their content and therefore should not be expected to accept them as a basis for boundary negotiations.

The Russian version was that Litvinoff made the armistice proposals and suggested that the border commission include a representative of a third power, as an arbiter, but that Shigemitsu refused to consider this.

Federal Bureau to Buy $47,000 Worth of Insulators Here.

The federal reclamation bureau today awarded to the Ohio Brass company the contract for supplying the government with 70,000 insulators for transmission lines in connection with three reclamation projects in Wyoming and Colorado, dispatches from Washington said.

According to the Associated Press, the contract totaling $47,779 calls for the delivery of the insulators to the Kendrick and Riverton projects in Wyoming and the Colorado-Big Thompson project in Colorado.

Company officials said they had not yet received notification of the award.

RICHLAND COUNTY PARTY RIDES OUT GALE ON CRUISER

Mansfield and Shelby Men, Including 3 Lutheran Pastors, Found by Coast Guard Drifting Off Island Lee With Disabled Boat in Tow.

Six Richland county men, reported missing since midnight last night during a severe storm on Lake Erie and the object of a widespread search, were found by U. S. coast guardsmen this morning after having ridden the turbulent waters for nearly 12 hours.

The 26-foot open hatch powerboat with the fishing party aboard and towing a disabled craft, containing two Erie county men, was located at 8 a. m. today in the lee of Middle island, 12 miles off Sandusky.

The Richland county party included Rev. D. B. Young, mayor of Shelby and pastor of the First Lutheran church of Shelby; Rev. M. P. Paetznick, his assistant; and four Mansfield men, Glenn D. Rinehart, 132 West Prospect street; D. L. Burns, 240 Rae avenue; Rev. H. L. Gilbert, 94 West Third street, pastor of St. Paul Lutheran church, and Lee R. Stone, 318 Lexington avenue. The boat is owned by Stone and the party set out on a fishing trip yesterday morning.

Save Drifting Boat.

While members of their families worried about the Richland county party, and coast guardsmen searched for them, they were performing a rescue act themselves.

Off Middle island, where they had sought shelter during the gale, they came upon a disabled speedboat, occupied by Erie County Probate Judge Ray Speer, the owner, and Harry Malbohm, Sandusky. The Speer boat had lost its propeller, and was drifting helplessly, battered by the heavy seas.

The Mansfielders got a line aboard Speer's boat, and towed it to a sheltered spot.

Both boats then dropped anchor, and weathered the storm, with all aboard donning life preservers during the night.

Left Early Wednesday.

The Richland county party had left here early in the day to go fishing in Lake Erie, and had planned to return to Sandusky, where Stone keeps his boat, around 6 p. m.

However, according to Stone's story to coast guardsmen, the fishing was so good that the party stayed out long past the intended time.

"I never saw the fishing any better," Stone was quoted as saying.

Then the storm hit. Lake Erie, always treacherous, was seething and boiling, under a 40-mile wind.

CHECK VOTES ON COMMITTEEMEN

Election Officials Tabulate Precinct Winners; Prepare for Official Count.

Richland county election board officials today started a check of votes cast for Democratic and Republican precinct committeemen and prepared to compile a report for the secretary of state giving the official count of votes cast in Tuesday's primary races.

George C. Balliet, election board chairman, said a special meeting of the board will be called to certify the official vote just as soon as a check of the poll books is completed.

The official vote must be certified within five days after the election, Balliet said. He added that the special meeting will be held later this week.

It was expected that a check of the party central committeemen vote will be completed late today.

Meanwhile election equipment kits used at the county's 90 precincts were being unpacked and the ballots placed in storage until 30 days expire when they can be legally destroyed.

HOME GUARDED

Garage of Ousted UAW Official Bombed in Night.

DETROIT—(AP)—A police guard was posted today at the home of Richard T. Frankensteen, one of the deposed vice presidents of the United Auto Workers of America, following the bombing late last night of a garage at the rear of his residence.

No one was hurt and the damage was slight.

Frankensteen said his only enemies were "persons on the other side in this UAW factional dispute." He added:

"If they want to intimidate us they will have to go a lot further."

Police indicated they feared an outbreak of factional violence might develop, but a spokesman for President Homer Martin of the UAW said the incident was "too unimportant" to warrant comment.

Tomorrow afternoon, Sonny accompanied by Donald D. Cram, physical director at the Y. M. C. A., will leave for Akron and three days of what will be jammed with thrills and excitement for the youthful derby racer. They will stay at derby headquarters in the Mayflower hotel.

Sonny's trim little coaster, all refinished, has already been taken to Akron and is on display with 120 other champions' cars at the M. O'Neil department store.

Saturday morning after the weigh-in ceremonies at derby headquarters, the Mansfield champion will get his first and only chance to try out the 1,100-foot concrete course at Derby Downs, near the Akron airport.

The championship races will be held Sunday afternoon.

'Flying Tackle' For Sales Crusade To End Today

35 Who Visited Homes Get 'Tips' Ranging From Home to Toasters.

Thirty-five young Mansfield men will end their "flying tackle" for the "Sales Mean Jobs" crusade late this afternoon, after having contacted several thousand Mansfield homes in the past three days.

They contacted housewives to explain the purpose of the "Sales Mean Jobs" campaign, to enlist their support and to uncover possible sales prospects. The "tips" which they reported included everything from the building of a new home to an electric toaster.

The boys reported courteous reception at almost every home, as well as an active interest in the crusade. Homemakers not only talked over their desires to build their own homes or remodel them, but the need for new home equipment and furnishings.

All of the tips on prospects were turned over to firms participating in the "Sales Mean Jobs" campaign, Richard Fensch, general chairman of the movement, said.

Yesterday was "Home Appliances day" and one large concern which has a staff of outside sales agents reported the largest day's sales since August, 1937. Sales ranged from refrigerators and ranges down to indirect lamps and electric toasters.

The most interesting highlight of the day's work was the report from a salesman of a firm handling appliances who received a "tip" at 9 a. m. yesterday of a housewife who had said she was considering a refrigerator. He went to her home immediately and by 10 a. m. was back in the office with a contract to deliver to her not only an electric refrigerator but an electric range. He was out less than an hour and turned in an order of approximately $400.

Saturday will be "Home Furnishing day" and interior decorators and sales people in furniture stores are compiling lists of prospects who will be called on personally or called by telephone.

Mrs. A. L. Wagner, and her daughter, Ruth, 80 Altamont avenue, listened attentively yesterday afternoon as William M. Locke, Mansfield student at the University of Colorado, who is one of the "minute men" in the "Sales Mean Jobs" crusade, explained how they could help by "buying now."

Chiseler Charges Sand Blasting Is Ruining His Art

CHICAGO—(AP)—The president of a national stone cutters' union—who wouldn't chisel even a little publicity by permitting use of his name—complains that sand blasting machinery has played havoc with the ancient hand-art of carving tombstones.

"Modern methods have ruined us," he says "Twenty-five years ago we had 35,000 members in our union. Today we have 5,000 and even they are not carving fancy angels and doves on the stones any more.

"People want things fast and plain today and sand blasting gives it to them that way. All workmen have to do is outline a name with rubber composition, turn on the blaster and the job is done in a few minutes.

"That's all right but I'll lay you 10 to 1 they didn't cut out this Venus d' Milo with a sand blaster, did they?"

Mrs. Jaeger retained custody of the boy at the judge's order.

Altrock Sees Brief Career for Feller

Now They've Got Armstrong-Ambers Fight In Place Where It Belongs—In the Garden.

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK—(AP)—It was a jinx fight from the day it was signed. Nobody warmed up to it. . . . It never was an outdoor show, anyway and now they've got it where it belongs—in the Garden. . . . From the start ticket sales have lagged. . . . Not one in 20 ever gave Ambers a chance against Armstrong and that hurt. . . . Another thing, interest in Schmeling and Louis reached such a high peak that when the reaction set in it really set in. . . . The sports world still is talking about that fight.

Can't keep the football news from sneaking onto the sports pages, boys. . . . Here's George Halas, owner of the Chicago Bears, predicting the 1938 season will be one of the most outstanding in history. . . . And out at Ann Arbor they're getting ready for a crowd of 75,000 for the Michigan-Michigan State game largely because of the excitement stirred by the arrival of Fritz Crisler at Michigan. . . . Arnold Herber, Green Bay Packer passing star, has gained 4,738 yards (almost three miles) on his tosses since 1932.

Bill Terry will stand pat on the present Giant lineup for the rest of the season. . . . Pa Stribling just couldn't stay out of boxing, so has taken over Harry (Moon) Mullins, recent Golden Gloves winner. . . . Mike Jacobs has completed arrangements to renew his Garden lease but is saving the announcement until today or tomorrow. . . . Joe McCarthy thinks the Indians will blow and that Boston and Chicago will furnish the Yanks headaches from now on.

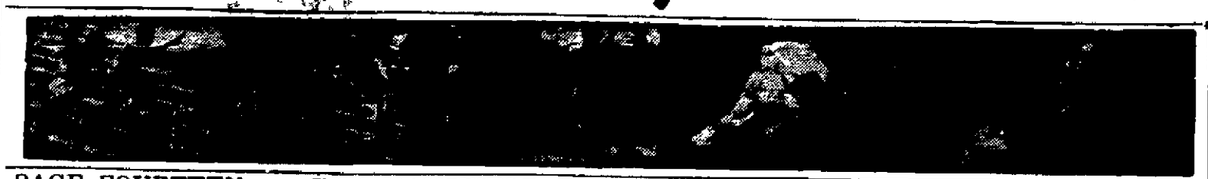
Tee Off Today In Rich Oakwood Show



Regains Mastery

Humphries Comes Back to Gain Credit for Victory Over Browns.

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—(UP)—Johnny Humphries today had regained some of the mastery that made him one of the outstanding freshman hurlers of the American league and the Cleveland Indians continued their chase of the league-leading New York Yankees with a bit more zest as a result.

Humphries, who was an important cog in keeping the Indians in first place for two months, had failed miserably in recent relief roles. However he came back yesterday to gain credit for his seventh victory of the season as Cleveland downed St. Louis 9 to 6.

Allen Shelled.

Johnny Allen, the temperamental ace of the Tribe staff, started the contest but was shelled from the hill after giving up six hits in 2 1-3 innings. Ken Jungles then came on to work until lifted for a pinch hitter in the sixth. Humphries replaced him and gave the Browns only three hits in three innings.

The impressive part of Humphries' work was that he had curbed his wildness. He did not issue a base on balls.

The young right-hander was lifted for a pinch hitter in the ninth, but enjoyed the benefits of the big five-run splurge Cleveland made to clinch the decision. Mel Harder pitched the final round and set the Browns down without trouble.

St. Louis scored twice in the second inning and four times in the third, and held a 6 to 4 lead going into the ninth. The Indians then put together a double, two singles, a walk and Hal Trosky's 15th home run for five counters and the triumph.

Lead Attack.

Sammy Hale with four hits and Jimmy Webb with three safeties paced the Tribe's 16-hit attack at the expense of Fred Johnson who went the route for St. Louis.

Webb, who had replaced Lyn Lary at shortstop, injured an ankle during the ninth inning rally and will be inactive for several days.

The clubs were to play a double header here today with Al Milnar and Willis Hudlin pitching for Cleveland. Buck Newsom and Russ Van Atta were the Brownie choices.

Warneke, Vander Meer Switch Places In Pitching Standings

By SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer.

YOU never can tell in this baseball business. The fellow who draws his pay-check every two weeks from the club treasurer will tell you it's champagne one day, water the next; a limousine today and a hitch-hike tomorrow.

Take a look at a couple of this year's examples — Long Lonnie Warneke, one of the few reasons the St. Louis Cardinals are in the National league, and Johnny Vander Meer, the double-no-hit-kid, whose tossing tricks earlier in the year boosted the Cincinnati Reds into the money.

For weeks, Long Lon was getting exactly nowhere. And Frankie Frisch, who has enough worries, had just one more reason for his thinning grey locks.

It's not that the Cards are going anywhere at any great rate, even now. But still the six-footer from Arkansas has returned to form, gone the route in five of his last six starts, allowed just eight runs in 52 innings and won four out of five, three of them by shutouts.

Lonnie's latest was a four-hit 5-0 whitewashing over the league-leading Pittsburgh Pirates yesterday in a game cut to seven innings by rain.

Vander Meer has been running just the reverse. Young Johnny tossed two no-hitters in a row, and was labelled the hottest thing to come down the pike in years.

But Johnny has failed to go the route in his last five starts, boasts just one victory in seven trips since mid-July, and has been tagged for 26 runs in about 45 innings, which goes to show you how fast things can change. Yesterday he went against the Chicago Cubs, but his boom-boom ball was belted for four runs in the eighth frame, and the Hartnetts took a 6-3 decision.

By the win, the Cubs climbed to within half-a-game of the New York Giants, who were given a neat and thorough going over by the Boston Bees, 8-2, and remained 6½ games off the Pittsburgh pace. The scheduled Philadelphia-Brooklyn night game was rained out.

The Yankees held their five-game edge in the American league by nipping the Senators, 12-11, in a weird ten-inning affair. A walk with the bases loaded forced in the winning run. Cleveland's second-place Indians had to stage a five-run rally in the ninth to top the St. Louis Browns, 9-6.

Swinging Sammy Chapman celebrated his return to the Athletics' lineup with a two-run homer that beat the Boston Red Sox, 5-3. The Chicago White Sox clubbed four pitchers for 15 hits to nose out the Tigers, 8-7.

Guldahl Favored To Win

Snead, Metz Expected to Offer Open Champ Most Trouble at Cleveland.

CLEVELAND — (INS) — The flat, small greens and narrow fairways of Oakwood Country club today attracted 200 golfers, all hoping for a piece of the $10,000 prize money offered in the Cleveland open, richest tournament of the year.

All of golf's professional headliners—at least all the American one—were on hand for the start of play. Almost all have toured the layout at least once, and several have been around three or four times.

The tournament is in four rounds of 18 holes each, the first today, and 18 holes each succeeding day, with a playoff, if necessary, Monday. All players will start in threesomes.

Gallery Favorites.

Favorites, picked by the galleries already, were Ralph Guldahl, Dick Metz and Sam Snead.

Guldahl, of course, is a natural favorite. He is at his best when the pressure is on and the pressure will be on for the first money, which totals $3,000. The national open and western open champ will have a large following throughout the play.

Snead yesterday upset all calculations on what it would take to win the tournament, when he slammed through the par-36 second nine in the unprecedented score of 29. On two holes he equalled par, and on the other seven he was one under, making birdies on the 11th, 12th, 13th, 14th, 15th, 16th and 18th.

Metz is a favorite with the fair members of the galleries, and there are plenty of feminine golfers in this town. Dick is a favorite with the lady golfers wherever he plays, and Cleveland is no exception.

Real consideration should be given to Paul Runyan, as the course is naturally adapted to his careful, precise play, and Johnny Revolta is another serious threat. Revolta is in the midst of a hot streak, coming here from his third consecutive tournament victory, in the Illinois P. G. A.

Others to Consider.

Lighthorse Harry Cooper, a master stylist and perfect shotmaker, is another to consider, and Denny Shute will be playing in his home town, anxious to make an impression.

Those are only a few. In fact, it would be hard to name all the players with a good chance to win the tourney, to say nothing of some of the local hopefuls, both professional and amateur. It is just possible that some unknown may play four rounds of golf way over his head and come through on top. The size of the entry list leaves plenty of room for unknowns.

DeLuxe Cabs Nip Crestline Kooler Kegs

Score Run in Eighth to Win 2 to 1 Decision.

The DeLuxe Cabs defeated the Kooler Keg Beers of Crestline, 2 to 1, in a softball game which attracted a big crowd at League park yesterday.

Dick Treisch was on the mound for the Cabs, and turned in one of his best pitching performances of the year as he set the visitors down with seven hits. Treisch held the Kegs scoreless until the ninth inning.

Ben Fried did the twirling for the Kegs, and he yielded only five hits, the Cabs using one in the first to score a run and two in the eighth to win the game.

The Cabs scored their winning run in this fashion: Balbaugh beat out a bunt down the third base line, moved to third on Bosko's double and scored on an infield out.

Forman led the DeLuxe attack with two hits, while Ganni obtained two for the losers.

The two teams recently played to a 4-all tie in a game halted by rain.

"BOOTS" ON WAY BACK, WINS THIRD STRAIGHT

COLUMBUS — (U.P.) — "Boots" Poffenberger, the colorful young hurler who caused Mickey Cochrane many a sleepless night when he was with the Detroit Tigers, today appeared on his way back to the major leagues.

Poffenberger, sent down to the Toledo Mudhens two weeks ago as a disciplinary move, has attended strictly to business and last night he hung up his third straight victory by gaining an easy 13 to 3 triumph over the Columbus Red Birds.

Dominion Club Tightens Grip On Loop Lead

Turn Back Hartman Team, 4-1, In Commercial League.

The Dominion Electrics practically cinched the championship of the Y. M. C. A. Commercial softball league yesterday when they defeated the Hartman Electrics, 4 to 1, at Empire field.

Shaffer turned in a splendid five-hit pitching job for the Dominion club. He turned back only five via the strike out route, but did not issue a walk.

Shaffer and Hinshaw collected two hits apiece to lead the Dominions, while Miles accounted for the lone Hartman tally with a home run in the seventh.

Striking out 12 and issuing only two walks, McKinley hurled the All-State Freights to a 4 to 2 victory over the Page Dairy's at Prospect park. The All-States never trailed as McKinley gave up only four hits.

The All-States obtained only six hits, but managed to bunch them to score. They won the ball game in the first inning when they sent three runs across the plate.

The Tappan Stoves defeated the Miller Dairys, 4 to 3, in a pitchers' battle. Durig of the Stoves allowed six hits, and Southard gave the winners five. No box score was available.

Mohican Club Trims Ontario

Al Boyer Gives Losers Only Three Base Hits.

Although playing with only eight men, the Mohican Chevrolets defeated Ontario, 3 to 2, in a city recreation Senior league game at Liberty park yesterday.

Al Boyer was on the mound for the Mohicans, and he fashioned a spectacular pitching job. He yielded only three hits, struck out nine and walked four. Casad of Ontario was found for 11.

Every player who appeared in the Mohican lineup obtained one hit or more, with Yarman setting the pace with three. His total included a double and triple.

The Ontario club was held scoreless until the last inning.

McLin, 3 to 1 Choice, Wins Rich Hambletonian Stake

By ORLO ROBERTSON

GOSHEN, N. Y.—(AP)—McLin may not be another Shirley Hanover but he at least has proved that Lawrence B. Sheppard knows his trotters.

Sheppard, 40-year-old head of the Hanover, Pa., Shoe Farms, backed his judgment with cash last week when he paid W. H. Cane $20,000 for the bay son of Mr. McElwyn-Ethelinda with the hopes the colt would carry the famous orange and blue silks to their third Hambletonian victory. Hanover's Bertha won the first in 1930 and Shirley Hanover repeated last year in record time.

Keeps Faith.

McLin was not long in keeping faith. Matching strides with nine other three-year-old trotters, McLin won trotting's richest race at Good Time track yesterday and came within less than $56 of earning his purchase price. To be exact he won $19,944.30, and the year is not over. His next start probably will be in the $7,500 stage at Syracuse's Grand Circuit meeting and then comes the $5,000 Horseman's stake and $8,500 Futurity at Lexington.

"He's not the trotter that Shirley was or is," said Sheppard after McLin had scored in straight heats, the first in 2:02¼ and the second in 2:02¾. "But I sure got a lot of contentment out of that victory. I was told that McLin was a good trotter but repeatedly broke stride. But you didn't see him to that today, did you? Henry Thomas did a smart job handling him."

McLin, 3 to 1 choice, made the task of winning trotting's blue ribbon look easy. Only once did the sturdily built colt trail and that was but for a sixteenth of a mile at the start of the first heat, when Homer Biery's Royal Spencer of Butler, Pa., showed the way to the first turn.

Stayed In Front.

Then Thomas took McLin to the front and there he stayed for the remainder of the mile, finishing three lengths in front of Earl's Princess Martha, a rank outsider owned by Earl F. Shropshire of St. Petersburg.

The disappointment of the race was Long Key, even money favorite from E. J. Merkle's stable of Columbus. He broke twice and never was in the battle.

Henry Finally Has Been Stopped---By Rain

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK—(AP)—Henry Armstrong finally has been stopped, but it took a good, soaking rain to do it.

He and Lou Ambers were all ready to climb into the ring for their lightweight title scrap last night at the Polo grounds when a drizzle turned into a downpour and Promoter Mike Jacobs declared a week's armistice.

Taking no chances on another rebuff from the weather, Mike transferred the bout indoors to Madison Square Garden, where the pair will meet next Wednesday night. This was the fight's second postponement, having been set up from the original date of June 26, when Ambers returned from the west coast with an injury.

The transfer to the Garden pleased Armstrong right down to the ground. Both the little negro and his portly manager, Eddie Mead, wanted to fight Ambers there all along, but the lightweight king insisted upon an outdoor setting, figuring it would require at least a ball park to hold the crowd.

He doesn't need to worry about that now. There probably weren't more than 5,000 customers rattling around in the Giants' parlor when the rain came last night, and there were none to speak of on the outside trying to get in.

Jacobs, a pained expression on his face, did his best to get the thing over. As it began to drizzle shortly before the first preliminary was due, he dispatched messengers to Armstrong and Ambers telling them to prepare to go on at a moment's notice. He had the ring lights snapped on and invited what few ringsiders there were to go back and sit under the covered stands, which they did. But then it began to come down in earnest, soaking the canvas of the ring, and Mike reluctantly said enough.

It will remain one of boxing's little mysteries why the fans have viewed the fight with such steadfast apathy. Armstrong, holder of the featherweight and welterweight titles, is the marvel of the age, with 38 straight victories to his credit, and Ambers had been a useful, if not sensational lightweight champion since 1936.

Tigers Whip All-Stars In Annual Game

Atton's Triple Big Factor In Last-Inning Rally.

Coming from behind, the Tigers defeated the All-Stars of the city recreation Intermediate league, 9 to 8, before 250 spectators at the Fairground yesterday.

The Tigers, Intermediate league leaders, never led until they put across the winning run in the last inning of the abbreviated seven inning contest.

Atton's lusty triple was a factor in deciding the issue in favor of the Tigers. With one out and trailing 8 to 7, Henry drew a pass to first, and then Atton unloaded his three-bagger to tie the score. Prion then followed with a single to send Atton home with the winning tally.

A fielding feature of the game was Donnan's catch of Schneider's pop fly in short left field.

Freiheit hurled for the Tigers, and he let the All-Stars down with six hits. He struck out seven, the same number whiffed by Burton, who was found for 11 blows.

Giles Opposes Series Between Reds, Indians.

CINCINNATI—(AP)—Possibilities of a post-season series between the Cincinnati Reds and the Cleveland Indians faded today with the word of the Reds' manager, Warren C. Giles, that he was opposed. An all-Ohio series was mentioned by Alva Bradley, president of the Cleveland club. Giles said he preferred a spring meeting.

DUROCHER DRAWS $50 FINE FOR THREATENING UMPIRE

NEW YORK — (U.P.) — Leo Durocher, Brooklyn Dodgers shortstop, was fined $50 today for misconduct and threatening an umpire. The fine was the outgrowth of an incident which occurred in Tuesday's game with the Philadelphia Phillies.

Durocher claimed that he was "riding" Virgil Davis, Phillie catcher, from the bench and that Umpire Tiny Parker thought the remarks were directed at him. Ordered from the game, Durocher appealed frantically and then, giving it up as a bad job, made threatening gestures toward Parker.

CRONIN GETS CREDIT FOR TWO VICTORIES

Chuck Cronin, formerly of Mansfield, registered his 10th victory when he hurled Johnstown to a 3 to 2 victory over Charleston in the first game of a double-header yesterday, and then got credit for his 11th when he came to the aid of Jefferson in the nightcap, which the Jawns took 6-4.

Altrock Sees Brief Career for Feller

Now They've Got Armstrong-Ambers Fight In Place Where It Belongs—In the Garden.

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK—(AP)—It was a jinx fight from the day it was signed. Nobody warmed up to it. . . . It never was an outdoor show, anyway and now they've got it where it belongs—in the Garden. . . . From the start ticket sales have lagged. . . . Not one in 20 ever gave Ambers a chance against Armstrong and that hurt. . . . Another thing, interest in Schmeling and Louis reached such a high peak that when the reaction set in it really set in. . . . The sports world still is talking about that fight.

Nick Altrock

Can't keep the football news from sneaking onto the sports pages, boys. . . . Here's George Halas, owner of the Chicago Bears, predicting the 1938 season will be one of the most outstanding in history. . . . And out at Ann Arbor they're getting ready for a crowd of 75,000 for the Michigan-Michigan State game largely because of the excitement stirred by the arrival of Fritz Crisler at Michigan. . . . Arnold Herber, Green Bay Packer passing star, has gained 4,738 yards (almost three miles) on his tosses since 1932.

Bill Terry will stand pat on the present Giant lineup for the rest of the season. . . . Pa Stribling just couldn't stay out of boxing, so has taken over Harry (Moon) Mullins, recent Golden Gloves winner. . . . Mike Jacobs has completed arrangements to renew his Garden lease but is saving the announcement until today or tomorrow. . . . Joe McCarthy thinks the Indians will blow and that Boston and Chicago will furnish the Yanks headaches from now on.

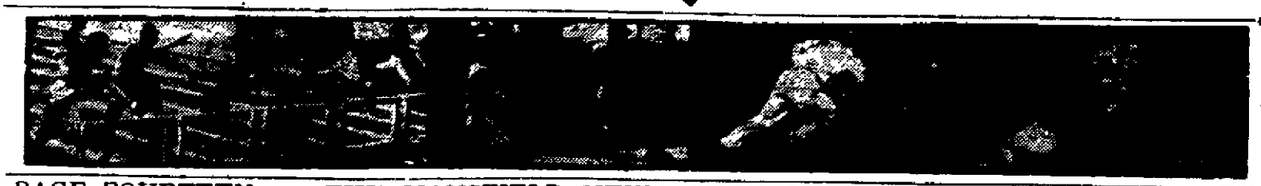
Tee Off Today In Rich Oakwood Show



Regains Mastery

Humphries Comes Back to Gain Credit for Victory Over Browns.

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—(UP)—Johnny Humphries today had regained some of the mastery that made him one of the outstanding freshman hurlers of the American league and the Cleveland Indians continued their chase of the league-leading New York Yankees with a bit more zest as a result.

Humphries, who was an important cog in keeping the Indians in first place for two months, had failed miserably in recent relief roles. However he came back yesterday to gain credit for his seventh victory of the season as Cleveland downed St. Louis 9 to 6.

Allen Shelled.

Johnny Allen, the temperamental ace of the Tribe staff, started the contest but was shelled from the hill after giving up six hits in 2 1-3 innings. Ken Jungles then came on to work until lifted for a pinch hitter in the sixth. Humphries replaced him and gave the Browns only three hits in three innings.

The impressive part of Humphries' work was that he had curbed his wildness. He did not issue a base on balls.

The young right-hander was lifted for a pinch hitter in the ninth, but enjoyed the benefits of the big five-run splurge Cleveland made to clinch the decision. Mel Harder pitched the final round and set the Browns down without trouble.

St. Louis scored twice in the second inning and four times in the third, and held a 6 to 4 lead going into the ninth. The Indians then put together a double, two singles, a walk and Hal Trosky's 15th home run for five counters and the triumph.

Lead Attack.

Sammy Hale with four hits and Jimmy Webb with three safeties paced the Tribe's 16-hit attack at the expense of Fred Johnson who went the route for St. Louis.

Webb, who had replaced Lyn Lary at shortstop, injured an ankle during the ninth inning rally and will be inactive for several days.

The clubs were to play a double header here today with Al Milnar and Willis Hudlin pitching for Cleveland. Buck Newsom and Russ Van Atta were the Brownie choices.

Guldahl Favored To Win

Snead, Metz Expected to Offer Open Champ Most Trouble at Cleveland.

CLEVELAND — (INS) — The flat, small greens and narrow fairways of Oakwood Country club today attracted 200 golfers, all hoping for a piece of the $10,000 prize money offered in the Cleveland open, richest tournament of the year.

All of golf's professional headliners—at least all the American one—were on hand for the start of play. Almost all have toured the layout at least once, and several have been around three or four times.

The tournament is in four rounds of 18 holes each, the first today, and 18 holes each succeeding day, with a playoff, if necessary, Monday. All players will start in threesomes.

Gallery Favorites.

Favorites, picked by the galleries already, were Ralph Guldahl, Dick Metz and Sam Snead.

Guldahl, of course, is a natural favorite. He is at his best when the pressure is on and the pressure will be on for the first money, which totals $3,000. The national open and western open champ will have a large following throughout the play.

Snead yesterday upset all calculations on what it would take to win the tournament, when he slammed through the par-36 second nine in the unprecedented score of 29. On two holes he equalled par, and on the other seven he was one under, making birdies on the 11th, 12th, 13th, 14th, 15th, 16th and 18th.

Metz is a favorite with the fair members of the galleries, and there are plenty of feminine golfers in this town. Dick is a favorite with the lady golfers wherever he plays, and Cleveland is no exception.

Real consideration should be given to Paul Runyan, as the course is naturally adapted to his careful, precise play, and Johnny Revolta is another serious threat. Revolta is in the midst of a hot streak, coming here from his third consecutive tournament victory, in the Illinois P. G. A.

Others to Consider.

Lighthorse Harry Cooper, a master stylist and perfect shotmaker, is another to consider, and Denny Shute will be playing in his home town, anxious to make an impression.

Those are only a few. In fact, it would be hard to name all the players with a good chance to win the tourney, to say nothing of some of the local hopefuls, both professional and amateur. It is just possible that some unknown may play four rounds of golf way over his head and come through on top. The size of the entry list leaves plenty of room for unknowns.

DeLuxe Cabs Nip Crestline Kooler Kegs

Score Run in Eighth to Win 2 to 1 Decision.

The DeLuxe Cabs defeated the Kooler Keg Beers of Crestline, 2 to 1, in a softball game which attracted a big crowd at League park yesterday.

Dick Treisch was on the mound for the Cabs, and turned in one of his best pitching performances of the year as he set the visitors down with seven hits. Treisch held the Kegs scoreless until the ninth inning.

Ben Fried did the twirling for the Kegs, and he yielded only five hits, the Cabs using one in the first to score a run and two in the eighth to win the game.

The Cabs scored their winning run in this fashion: Balbaugh beat out a bunt down the third base line, moved to third on Bosko's double and scored on an infield out.

Forman led the DeLuxe attack with two hits, while Ganni obtained two for the losers.

The two teams recently played to a 4-all tie in a game halted by rain.

"BOOTS" ON WAY BACK, WINS THIRD STRAIGHT

COLUMBUS — (U.P.) — "Boots" Poffenberger, the colorful young hurler who caused Mickey Cochrane many a sleepless night when he was with the Detroit Tigers, today appeared on his way back to the major leagues.

Poffenberger, sent down to the Toledo Mudhens two weeks ago as a disciplinary move, has attended strictly to business and last night he hung up his third straight victory by gaining an easy 13 to 3 triumph over the Columbus Red Birds.

Dominion Club Tightens Grip On Loop Lead

Turn Back Hartman Team, 4-1, In Commercial League.

The Dominion Electrics practically cinched the championship of the Y. M. C. A. Commercial softball league yesterday when they defeated the Hartman Electrics, 4 to 1, at Empire field.

Shaffer turned in a splendid five-hit pitching job for the Dominion club. He turned back only five via the strike out route, but did not issue a walk.

Shaffer and Hinshaw collected two hits apiece to lead the Dominions, while Miles accounted for the lone Hartman tally with a home run in the seventh.

Striking out 12 and issuing only two walks, McKinley hurled the All-State Freights to a 4 to 2 victory over the Page Dairy's at Prospect park. The All-States never trailed as McKinley gave up only four hits.

The All-States obtained only six hits, but managed to bunch them to score. They won the ball game in the first inning when they sent three runs across the plate.

The Tappan Stoves defeated the Miller Dairys, 4 to 3, in a pitchers' battle. Durig of the Stoves allowed six hits, and Southard gave the winners five. No box score was available.

Although playing with only eight men, the Mohican Chevrolets defeated Ontario, 3 to 2, in a city recreation Senior league game at Liberty park yesterday.

Every player who appeared in the Mohican lineup obtained one hit or more, with Yarman setting the pace with three. His total included a double and triple.

Warneke, Vander Meer Switch Places In Pitching Standings

By SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer.

YOU never can tell in this baseball business. The fellow who draws his pay-check every two weeks from the club treasurer will tell you it's champagne one day, water the next; a limousine today and a hitch-hike tomorrow.

Take a look at a couple of this year's examples — Long Lonnie Warneke, one of the few reasons the St. Louis Cardinals are in the National league, and Johnny Vander Meer, the double-no-hit-kid, whose tossing tricks earlier in the year boosted the Cincinnati Reds into the money.

For weeks, Long Lon was getting exactly nowhere. And Frankie Frisch, who has enough worries, had just one more reason for his thinning grey locks.

It's not that the Cards are going anywhere at any great rate, even now. But still the six-footer from Arkansas has returned to form, gone the route in five of his last six starts, allowed just eight runs in 52 innings and won four out of five, three of them by shutouts.

Lonnie's latest was a four-hit 5-0 whitewashing over the league-leading Pittsburgh Pirates yesterday in a game cut to seven innings by rain.

Vander Meer has been running just the reverse. Young Johnny tossed two no-hitters in a row, and was labelled the hottest thing to come down the pike in years.

But Johnny has failed to go the route in his last five starts, boasts just one victory in seven trips since mid-July, and has been tagged for 26 runs in about 45 innings, which goes to show you how fast things can change. Yesterday he went against the Chicago Cubs, but his boom-boom ball was belted for four runs in the eighth frame, and the Hartnetts took a 6-3 decision.

By the win, the Cubs climbed to within half-a-game of the New York Giants, who were given a neat and thorough going over by the Boston Bees, 8-2, and remained 6½ games off the Pittsburgh pace. The scheduled Philadelphia-Brooklyn night game was rained out.

The Yankees held their five-game edge in the American league by nipping the Senators, 12-11, in a weird ten-inning affair. A walk with the bases loaded forced in the winning run. Cleveland's second-place Indians had to stage a five-run rally in the ninth to top the St. Louis Browns, 9-6.

Swinging Sammy Chapman celebrated his return to the Athletics' lineup with a two-run homer that beat the Boston Red Sox, 5-3. The Chicago White Sox clubbed four pitchers for 15 hits to nose out the Tigers, 8-7.

McLin, 3 to 1 Choice, Wins Rich Hambletonian Stake

By ORLO ROBERTSON

GOSHEN, N. Y.—(AP)—McLin may not be another Shirley Hanover but he at least has proved that Lawrence B. Sheppard knows his trotters.

Sheppard, 40-year-old head of the Hanover, Pa., Shoe Farms, backed his judgment with cash last week when he paid W. H. Cane $20,000 for the bay son of Mr. McElwyn-Ethelinda with the hopes the colt would carry the famous orange and blue silks to their third Hambletonian victory. Hanover's Bertha won the first in 1930 and Shirley Hanover repeated last year in record time.

Keeps Faith.

McLin was not long in keeping faith. Matching strides with nine other three-year-old trotters, McLin won trotting's richest race at Good Time track yesterday and came within less than $56 of earning his purchase price. To be exact he won $19,944.30, and the year is not over. His next start probably will be in the $7,500 stage at Syracuse's Grand Circuit meeting and then comes the $5,000 Horseman's stake and $8,500 Futurity at Lexington.

"He's not the trotter that Shirley was or is," said Sheppard after McLin had scored in straight heats, the first in 2:02¼ and the second in 2:02¾. "But I sure got a lot of contentment out of that victory. I was told that McLin was a good trotter but repeatedly broke stride. But you didn't see him to that today, did you? Henry Thomas did a smart job handling him."

McLin, 3 to 1 choice, made the task of winning trotting's blue ribbon look easy. Only once did the sturdily built colt trail and that was but for a sixteenth of a mile at the start of the first heat, when Homer Biery's Royal Spencer of Butler, Pa., showed the way to the first turn.

Stayed In Front.

Then Thomas took McLin to the front and there he stayed for the remainder of the mile, finishing three lengths in front of Earl's Princess Martha, a rank outsider owned by Earl F. Shropshire of St. Petersburg.

The disappointment of the race was Long Key, even money favorite from E. J. Merkle's stable of Columbus. He broke twice and never was in the battle.

T. D. SPORTS TRIUMPH IN FREE-SCORING GAME

The T. D. Sports walloped the Kobacker store softball team, 17 to 13, at Tappan field yesterday. Pitcher Bajai of the Sports collected three hits to lead his team. Callen also obtained three to lead the losers. Wade and Bell of the losers and Carmel of the Sports hit for the circuit.

Aided materially by nine walks and a number of errors, the Forest Gardens, who got only seven hits, walloped the Humphryes softball team, 13 to 1, at the Gardens yesterday. Sewek and Appleman allowed the losers only three hits. Appleman struck out eight during his tenure on the mound. F. McDonaugh of the Gardens hit for the circuit.

Henry Finally Has Been Stopped---By Rain

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK—(AP)—Henry Armstrong finally has been stopped, but it took a good, soaking rain to do it.

He and Lou Ambers were all ready to climb into the ring for their lightweight title scrap last night at the Polo grounds when a drizzle turned into a downpour and Promoter Mike Jacobs declared a week's armistice.

Taking no chances on another rebuff from the weather, Mike transferred the bout indoors to Madison Square Garden, where the pair will meet next Wednesday night. This was the fight's second postponement, having been set up from the original date of June 26, when Ambers returned from the west coast with an injury.

The transfer to the Garden pleased Armstrong right down to the ground. Both the little negro and his portly manager, Eddie Mead, wanted to fight Ambers there all along, but the lightweight king insisted upon an outdoor setting, figuring it would require at least a ball park to hold the crowd.

He doesn't need to worry about that now. There probably weren't more than 5,000 customers rattling around in the Giants' parlor when the rain came last night, and there were none to speak of on the outside trying to get in.

Jacobs, a pained expression on his face, did his best to get the thing over. As it began to drizzle shortly before the first preliminary was due, he dispatched messengers to Armstrong and Ambers telling them to prepare to go on at a moment's notice. He had the ring lights snapped on and invited what few ringsiders there were to go back and sit under the covered stands, which they did. But then it began to come down in earnest, soaking the canvas of the ring, and Mike reluctantly said enough.

It will remain one of boxing's little mysteries why the fans have viewed the fight with such steadfast apathy. Armstrong, holder of the featherweight and welterweight titles, is the marvel of the age, with 38 straight victories to his credit, and Ambers had been a useful, if not sensational lightweight champion since 1936.

Tigers Whip All-Stars In Annual Game

Atton's Triple Big Factor In Last-Inning Rally.

Coming from behind, the Tigers defeated the All-Stars of the city recreation Intermediate league, 9 to 8, before 250 spectators at the Fairground yesterday.

The Tigers, Intermediate league leaders, never led until they put across the winning run in the last inning of the abbreviated seven inning contest.

Atton's lusty triple was a factor in deciding the issue in favor of the Tigers. With one out and trailing 8 to 7, Henry drew a pass to first, and then Atton unloaded his three-bagger to tie the score. Prion then followed with a single to send Atton home with the winning tally.

A fielding feature of the game was Donnan's catch of Schneider's pop fly in short left field.

Freiheit hurled for the Tigers, and he let the All-Stars down with six hits. He struck out seven, the same number whiffed by Burton, who was found for 11 blows.

Giles Opposes Series Between Reds, Indians.

CINCINNATI—(AP)—Possibilities of a post-season series between the Cincinnati Reds and the Cleveland Indians faded today with the word of the Reds' manager, Warren C. Giles, that he was opposed. An all-Ohio series was mentioned by Alva Bradley, president of the Cleveland club. Giles said he preferred a spring meeting.

DUROCHER DRAWS $50 FINE FOR THREATENING UMPIRE

NEW YORK — (U.P.) — Leo Durocher, Brooklyn Dodgers shortstop, was fined $50 today for misconduct and threatening an umpire. The fine was the outgrowth of an incident which occurred in Tuesday's game with the Philadelphia Phillies.

Durocher claimed that he was "riding" Virgil Davis, Phillie catcher, from the bench and that Umpire Tiny Parker thought the remarks were directed at him. Ordered from the game, Durocher appealed frantically and then, giving it up as a bad job, made threatening gestures toward Parker.

CRONIN GETS CREDIT FOR TWO VICTORIES

Chuck Cronin, formerly of Mansfield, registered his 10th victory when he hurled Johnstown to a 3 to 2 victory over Charleston in the first game of a double-header yesterday, and then got credit for his 11th when he came to the aid of Jefferson in the nightcap, which the Jawns took 6-4.

MARKET PUTS ON MILD RALLY AS LEADERS GO UP

Russian-Japanese Truce Gives Slight Upward Push in Day's Trading.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—The stock market worked up a mild rallying temperature today and leaders retrieved fractions to around a point of recent losses.

The Russo-Japanese truce in the Far East proved only a moderate prop to sentiment. Business news continued favorable, but there was little in it that had not been forecast.

Bonds were about steady, with Japanese dollar loans recovering sharply. Foreign securities markets did lightly better. European currencies moved up a shade in terms of the American monetary unit. Commodities were mixed, with grains down following the government's crop report and weakness of prices in Liverpool.

Among cheering market factors was the estimate of the engineering News-Record placing construction awards for the latest week at 33 per cent over the preceding week and 69 per cent above the comparable period a year ago. Private building was up substantially.

July applications for federal housing administration mortgages were said to have exceeded the 1937 level by 100 per cent.

MINOR LOSSES TURN MARKET TO DOWN SIDE

Traders Keep Close Watch on Foreign Affairs, Fear Jap-Russo War.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Continuing its drift in a narrow course, the stock market turned to the downside for minor losses today. The marktime policy in trading camps was apparent in the thinness of dealings.

Most bonds showed little change in a quiet market. Commodities were uneven in light dealings.

Traders still kept close watch on foreign affairs, fearing the Japanese-Russian border struggle might portend other moves toward war. However, the rush for gold in London slowed and foreign currencies held better against the dollar than in recent sessions.

Comment from trade authorities and business readers harped on a hopeful note for the business future.

The "Iron Age," in its weekly summary said "better prospects are piling up for the steel industry, indicating a continuation of the upward trend." Electric power output continued its climb.

Retailers and mail order houses were reported expanding their orders for finished textile goods in anticipation autumn trade would be close to 1937 levels.

VOTERS SWAMP RELIEF LEVIES

Proposed Two-Mill Measure for City Defeated in 47 Out of 50 Precincts.

to 56 against the city levy and 69 to 56 on the Madison levy.

Other precincts to carry were 5 F, Madison B and E, which supported the Madison levy.

10 to 1 in One Precinct.

The city levy met with the greatest defeat in precinct C of the Sixth ward where it was opposed by a vote of 159 to 15, while the Madison issue was defeated in the same precinct by a vote of 137 to 39.

The defeat of the measurers now leaves the question of raising aproximately $100,000 annually up to city officials while Madison township trustees also are faced with the same problem of finding $50,000 to finance their relief burden for the coming year.

Mansfield has long since depleted its relief funds with unpaid food bills totaling more than $35,000 and is faced with the same problem that confronts Madison township which is nearly $5,000 in debt.

COUNTY CLIMBS ON BANDWAGON

Rolls Up Lead of More Than 1,200 for Sawyer; Takes 46 Out of 50 Precincts.

counties piled votes upon votes for Davey in a ballot spree that came close to matching the vote the state's "big counties" gave Sawyer.

It was a Sawyer victory in 46 out of 50 precincts in Mansfield and in 17 precincts out of 40 in township and Shelby precincts. Twenty-three rural precincts gave Davey an edge while only four Mansfield precincts batted in the governor's lineup.

Two of the city precincts which "went Davey" were Precinct B of the Fifth ward which voted 107 to 64 against Sawyer, and Precinct D of the Fifth ward which gave Davey a two-vote margin, 94 to 92. Third Ward B in the city gave Davey a 59 to 55 edge and Precinct W of the Sixth went Davey 58 to 54. All the rest were in the Sawyer column.

There were 13,686 voters who walked into the precinct voting booths yesterday. This was more than 3,000 greater than the number voting at the primary election in 1936, and ranked among the "heavy voting" primaries of recent years.

Richland voters marched along with the rest of Ohio in giving Senator Robert J. Bulkley a victory over George White, former Ohio governor, in the Democratic U. S. senatorial contest.

Bulkley was given a more than two to one majority over White in returns here. Unofficial totals for the county's 90 precincts gave Bulkley 5,668 votes against 2,714 for White.

While Robert A. Taft of Cincinnati, rolled up a majority of better than 80,000 to win the Republican U. S. senatorial nomination in the state, Richland county gave his opponent, Supreme Court Judge Arthur Day, a majority.

Day polled 2,661 votes against 2,394 for Taft.

In the 17th district congressional races, veteran Congressman William A. Ashbrook snowed under Frank Cave, former speaker of the Ohio House, and Lee Purdy, his two opponents for the Democratic nomination.

The county gave Ashbrook 5,036 votes, against 2,504 for his closest rival, Cave, and 571 for Purdy. Ashbrook held a substantial victory in the other five counties of the district.

The Republican race in the same contest was won in the district by W. B. Woodward of near Bellville who campaigned as a supporter of the Townsend old age pension plan. Woodward failed to carry his own county, however. He polled 1,666 votes against a higher county total of 2,814 given Philip Wolfe, former state senator of Mansfield, but bested Oliver H. Dockery of Newark who received 493 Richland votes.

In the only two strictly Richland county contests, Ralph C. Lutz, incumbent, won the Democratic nomination as state representative for a chance at a third term, and H. H. Maxwell of Lexington, was the Republican winner.

Lutz Beats Cook.

Lutz defeated David Cook of Shelby, by an overwhelming vote of 5,129 to 2,582. Maxwell counted out L. Max Daugherty of Mansfield, 2,306 to 2,045.

Richland county's vote for the Democratic nomination as state senator from the 27th-29th district gave William F. Hurley of Lorain a vote of 3,767 against 2,861 for Maurice C. Brown, also of Lorain, but Hurley lost to Brown in the district total vote.

In the Democratic contest for lieutenant governor, Richland gave James Metzenbaum 1,791 votes to lead the field of eight candidates. The county vote for the others was: Ed Day, 1,364; Frank H. Ward, 1,342; Frank R. Uible, 892; E. M. Steele, 429; John P. Rogers, 577; H. J. Halper, 327, and Taylor Davidson, 477.

In the two-way race for the same nomination in the Republican ranks, Paul M. Herbert was given 3,588 votes against 795 for Charles A. Bracker.

Richland gave Clarence Knisely a vote of 9,259 against 3,709 for John J. Kennedy for renomination as state treasurer of the Democratic ticket.

The Richland vote for the Republican nomination as secretary of state gave Earl Griffith of Mt. Gilead the lead over three opponents. Griffith's vote here was 2,166, against 1,231 for George E. Turner, 586 for Edward J. Hummel and 407 for J. L. McCarthy.

There was no contest in the Democratic ranks for the secretary of state post, William J. Kennedy being unopposed.

Thomas J. Herbert polled 2,164 votes here against 1,116 for Verner Metcalf in the G. O. P. contest for attorney general. Herbert S. Duffy, incumbent, was unopposed for the Democratic nomination.

The county's vote for congressman-at-large on the Democratic ticket gave Stephan M. Young 4,410 votes to lead Harold G. Mosier with 3,147, and John McSweeney with 3,348.

The congress-at-large vote on the Republican ticket in the county gave George H. Bender 1,952 votes to lead R. J. Jeffreys with 1,388, L. L. Marshall with 1,415, C. E. Wharton with 891, and C. G. L. Yearick with 1,259.

In the Republican judicial races, Richland county gave Walter B. Wannamaker 2,304 votes to lead Clinton D. Boyd with 1,847 in the contest for chief justice of the Ohio supreme court; Carl V. Weygandt, incumbent, had no opposition for the Democratic nomination.

William L. Hart led his opponent Edward C. Turner, 2,196 to 1,704 in a Republican race for Ohio supreme court justice. Robert N. Gorman, Democrat, was unopposed for the same post.

A four-way Republican race for another supreme court post gave G. K. Allen 1,416 votes, Lawrence Rich 411, R. L. Struble 671, Frank H. Ward 1,282.

On the Democratic ticket in the same court contest Richland county gave W. C. Dixon 1,948 votes, J. E. Bowman 1,896, F. F. Smith 1,628, and T. I. Kowan 422.

school children of Mansfield who lost the opportunity to attend schools free from hazards when their parents turned the issue down, but we are going to keep on fighting."

Of the city's 50 precincts and the three in Madison township which are a part of the school district, only six turned the issue down, but it was enough to cause the collapse of the entire building program for at least another year.

Three of these precincts were located in the Fifth, two in the Sixth and one in the Fourth ward, while the First, Second and Third wards carried in every precincts.

Outside of the Second ward, the three precincts in Madison township led the field with a percentage of 60.7 favorable vote cast for the issue.

The bonds met with their greatest defeat in Precinct D of the Fifth ward where a negative vote of 129 to 61 was cast. It carried with the largest majority in Precinct D of Ward 2, where a favorable vote of 157 to 46 was cast.

The school building program which would have benefited by the $550,000 bond issue included the program for construction of two new junior high school buildings, the installation of sanitary equipment in the elementary school buildings, and a shop addition at the Senior high school building.

The proposed project would have included the expenditure of $1,000,000, and of the entire amount the federal government would have made to the city an outright grant of $450,000. The remainder was to have been financed by the $550,000 which was turned down yesterday by the voters of Mansfield.

ery and 6,400 for Wolfe.

Meanwhile, Ashbrook had an easy time in the Democratic primary and final tabulations showed he had a vote that was close to four times larger than that received by Frank Cave of Mansfield, former speaker of the Ohio house of representatives, his closest opponent.

Ashbrook received 23,661 votes, against 6,455 polled by Cave, and 2,235 received by Lee H. Purdy, of Coshocton, third candidate in the race. The veteran congressman, now serving his ninth term, rolled up big majorities in all of the counties in the district.

Ashbrook, in a statement today, expressed appreciation to "those who supported me and those who did not, because I received decent consideration from all". He added "my pledge is the maintenance of my record."

Board Acts to Re-Submit School Bonds

DECIDES CLOSE VOTE JUSTIFIES 2ND ELECTION

Seeks Approval of State Tax Commission to Put Issue on Ballot Again.

VOTE HOLDS UP U. S. GRANT

Butler and Shelby Bonds and Shelby Levy Given Passing Majorities in Primary.

The Mansfield board of education today took steps to re-submit the $550,000 school bond issue at a special election, and planned a second campaign to win over at least 410 votes by which the issue was defeated at Tuesday's primary.

H. W. Arlin, board president, said conferences are to be arranged with the state department of education and the state tax commission for submitting the proposal again. Consent of the tax commission must be obtained before the proposal can be re-submitted.

Lacks 410 Votes.

A special meeting of the school board was held yesterday after the vote tabulation disclosed the issue was defeated 5,558 to 3,624, lacking the required 65 per cent majority by 410 votes.

Board members said that the close vote warranted consideration of plans to submit the proposal to the electorate again.

W. L. Miller, superintendent of schools, informed the state department of education today of the issue's defeat. Recommendations concerning re-submission of the issue are expected from the department on Miller's return from a week's vacation next week. He left with his family today for Ocean City, N. J.

Would Have Built 2 Schools.

Defeat of the issue lost for Mansfield, for the time being at least, a $450,000 grant from federal funds to be used with the $550,000 the bonds would have raised, for building two new junior high schools and carrying on an extensive improvement program in antiquated buildings of the city school system.

Arlin explained that before a special election is called, several factors concerning re-submission of the bonds would first have to be

NEW CHARGE

Dwyer Says Carroll Once Attempted Extortion.

SOUTH PARIS, Me. —(U.P.)— Paul (Buddy) Dwyer added extortion to his list of accusations against Francis M. Carroll in a statement read today to the jury hearing Carroll's trial on a charge of murdering a country doctor.

The statement signed by Dwyer said that Carroll once tried to extort $50,000 from a former employer.

The 19-year-old youth previously had charged the ousted deputy sheriff with committing the murder for which Dwyer himself is serving a life term, and of incest with a daughter before Dwyer seduced her.

Dwyer in the statement admitted typing two extortion notes to George R. Morton, president and manager of the South Paris Manufacturing company, for whom Carroll formerly had worked 15 years, but said he did so only when Carroll threatened his life.

GERMAN PLANE CROSSES OCEAN

Passes Newfoundland, Heads Southward Toward Boston and New York.

BULLETIN

BOSTON— (AP) —Nearing the end of its projected non-stop flight from Berlin to New York, the German airplane Brandenburg reported her position to the Radio Marine corporation at 1 p. m. (EST) today as 30 miles northeast of Boston.

(By Associated Press)

BOSTON—A report received at 8 a. m. (EST) by the Radio Marine corporation today placed the German transatlantic plane Bradenburg over Notre Dame bay, on the northern coast of Newfoundland. The plane was flying at about 2,000 feet.

Notre Dame bay is less than 1,000 miles from Boston and the plane's course, if continued, would cross Newfoundland and Nova Scotia and down the New England coast.

An hour later, the Bradenburg gave her position as over Capt St. George, on the southwest coast of Newfoundland, near the Guif of St. Lawrence.

In her next hourly report, at 10 a. m., the German ship said she was flying over the Magdalen Islands, in the gulf, and north of Prince Edward island.

DAVEY STAYS HOME TO REST

Says He Isn't Yet Ready To Comment On Primary Defeat.

KENT—(AP)—Continuing to rest at his home here today, Gov. Martin L. Davey said he did not expect to issue any statment about his Democratic gubernatorial primary defeat immediately.

Asked whether he intended to support Charles Sawyer in the fall campaign, Davey repeated he was "not ready to make any comment" about the primary election or his future plans.

The governor declared the primary campaign was the "most strenuous" in which he ever engaged.

DEMS TO MEET AUG. 24

Committee Head to Be Named; G. O. P. Nominee Doubts If Rival Can 'Clean Up Mess.'

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS — Confronted immediately after his nomination by a Republican challenge of his ability to "clean up" the state government if elected, Charles Sawyer, the new Democratic candidate for governor, today issued his first call to arms of Democrats for the fall campaign.

From his home in Glendale, Sawyer, triumphant by 31,000 votes over Gov. Martin L. Davey, wired Earl T. Hanefeld, state agriculture director and chairman of the state central committee, to call a committee meeting in Columbus for Aug. 24 for selection of a new state chairman, who will direct the campaign.

'Several in Mind.'

He advised Hanefeld he had "several persons in mind" but that his decision would not be made until after a short vacation. The new candidate probably will go to Long Island, N. Y., for a brief rest.

It is customary for the gubernatorial nominee virtually to dictate the choice of chairman, and this will be done in Sawyer's case. State Chairman Francis W. Poulson had said he would step out irrespective of the results in yesterday's election.

The names of Arthur L. Limbach, New Philadelphia, and John Quinilivan, Toledo, both vice chairmen of Sawyer's campaign committee, have been mentioned prominently in discussions of a new chairman. Judge Hugh L. Nichols, Batavia, Sawyer's campaign chairman, and William J. Leonard, Hamilton county leader, also were discussed.

Mansfield In 'No' List As 65 Cities O. K. Tax Hikes

City's Neighbors Give Passing Majorities on Bond Issues, Special Levies, Vote Survey Reveals.

Mansfield was listed today with other cities over the state as one of those that voted down its school bond issues, while a long list of cities and villages that approved its bond issues at the polls Tuesday included many of Mansfield's neighbors.

Of the 308 bond issues that were placed on Ohio ballots Tuesday about 41 per cent of them were approved by the voters while a little less than 60 per cent were turned down. About 62 major proposals were frowned upon while 65 were approved.

Galion, Shelby Approve.

While Mansfield lost its million dollar school building program when its $550,000 bond issue failed to carry by 410 votes Tuesday, Galion approved a $54,000 bond issue which will replace their elementary east side school, the last of the old buildings in the city. Loudonville accepted a $93,000 indebtedness by a vote of 836 to 235, for a school improvement program.

To the east of Mansfield, Massillon voters approved a bond issue of approximately half a million dollars for its million dollar school program, while Findlay voted "for" on its $235,000 school proposal. Steubenville's $500,000 bond issue passed by the narrow margin of 20 votes.

Mansfield's neighbor to the northwest, Shelby, approved $100,000 in bonds for waterworks improvement and a one mill levy for operating expenses. Butler village, to the southeast, voted for a $49,000 bond issue for a new high school.

Fostoria approved a $247,000 proposal while two schools in

'Flying Tackle' For Sales Crusade To End Today

35 Who Visited Homes Get 'Tips' Ranging From Home to Toasters.

Thirty-five young Mansfield men will end their "flying tackle" for the "Sales Mean Jobs" crusade late this afternoon, after having contacted several thousand Mansfield homes in the past three days.

They contacted housewives to explain the purpose of the "Sales Mean Jobs" campaign, to enlist their support and to uncover possible sales prospects. The "tips" which they reported included everything from the building of a new home to an electric toaster.

The boys reported courteous reception at almost every home, as well as an active interest in the crusade. Homemakers not only talked over their desires to build their own homes or remodel them, but the need for new home equipment and furnishings.

All of the tips on prospects were turned over to firms participating in the "Sales Mean Jobs" campaign, Richard Fensch, general chairman of the movement, said.

Yesterday was "Home Appliances day" and one large concern which has a staff of outside sales agents reported the largest day's sales since August, 1937. Sales ranged from refrigerators and ranges down to indirect lamps and electric toasters.

The most interesting highlight of the day's work was the report from a salesman of a firm handling appliances who received a "tip" at 9 a. m. yesterday of a housewife who had said she was considering a refrigerator. He went to her home immediately and by 10 a. m. was back in the office with a contract to deliver to her not only an electric refrigerator but an electric range. He was out less than an hour and turned in an order of approximately $400.

Saturday will be "Home Furnishing day" and interior decorators and sales people in furniture stores are compiling lists of prospects who will be called on personally or called by telephone.

Mrs. A. L. Wagner, and her daughter, Ruth, 80 Altamont avenue, listened attentively yesterday afternoon as William M. Locke, Mansfield student at the University of Colorado, who is one of the "minute men" in the "Sales Mean Jobs" crusade, explained how they could help by "buying now."

TRUCE HALTS SOVIET-JAPAN BORDER 'WAR'

Diplomats Agree to End Fighting, Keep Troops in Places They Hold on Aug. 10.

WILL RE-DEFINE BORDER

Commissions to Be Named to Deal With Thorny Problem of Demarcation.

(By Associated Press)

MOSCOW—The vest-pocket war on the Siberian frontier which threatened to involve Russia and Japan in a major conflict, appeared well on the way to peaceful settlement today.

Both sides agreed to a truce after a peace parley between the Soviet Russian foreign minister, Maxim Litvinoff, and the Japanese ambassador, Mamoru Shigemitsu, and to order their forces to cease military operations at noon today, Changkufeng time (10 p. m. Wednesday EST).

Main Point Settled.

Not all points of the dispute over the frontier position about Changkufeng hill, center of trouble since July 11, were cleared up by the agreement—the basis for re-defining the border remained a thorny problem which could start new quarrels.

The one main point was settled, however: Both sides agreed to stop fighting.

A communique announced Japan and Russia had decided that their respective troops would remain in positions they held at midnight Aug. 10.

A commission of two Soviet representatives and two Japanese Manchoukuo representatives was agreed upon to deal with demarcation of the frontier.

The Soviet communique this morning specifically stated, however, that "agreement had not been reached about the basis for work of the demarcation commission.'

Disagree Over Maps.

In other words, Tokyo had not agreed to recognize maps attached to the Hunchun treaty of 1886, between Russia and China, which Moscow heretofore has insisted must be recognized as authoritative in determining the boundary.

The Japanese ambassador promised, however, the Soviet communique said, to consult his government on this point, which may mean a compromise is in sight to forestall any new outbreak in the border quarrel.

Shigemitsu had sought to have the demarcation based on other data, not yet submitted to the Soviet government.

Japan has held the Hunchun treaty maps never were published and that Japan has no knowledge of their content and therefore should not be expected to accept them as a basis for boundary negotiations.

The Russian version was that Litvinoff made the armistice proposals and suggested that the border commission include a representative of a third power, as an arbiter, but that Shigemitsu refused to consider this.

According to the Associated Press, the contract totaling $47,779 calls for the delivery of the insulators to the Kendrick and Riverton projects in Wyoming and the Colorado-Big Thompson project in Colorado.

Company officials said they had not yet received notification of the award.

RICHLAND COUNTY PARTY RIDES OUT GALE ON CRUISER

Mansfield and Shelby Men, Including 3 Lutheran Pastors, Found by Coast Guard Drifting Off Island Lee With Disabled Boat in Tow.

Six Richland county men, reported missing since midnight last night during a severe storm on Lake Erie and the object of a widespread search, were found by U. S. coast guardsmen this morning after having ridden the turbulent waters for nearly 12 hours.

The 26-foot open hatch powerboat with the fishing party aboard and towing a disabled craft, containing two Erie county men, was located at 8 a. m. today in the lee of Middle island, 12 miles off Sandusky.

The Richland county party included Rev. D. B. Young, mayor of Shelby and pastor of the First Lutheran church of Shelby; Rev. M. P. Paetznick, his assistant; and four Mansfield men, Glenn D. Rinehart, 132 West Prospect street; D. L. Burns, 240 Rae avenue; Rev. H. L. Gilbert, 94 West Third street, pastor of St. Paul Lutheran church, and Lee R. Stone, 318 Lexington avenue. The boat is owned by Stone and the party set out on a fishing trip yesterday morning.

Save Drifting Boat.

While members of their families worried about the Richland county party, and coast guardsmen searched for them, they were performing a rescue act themselves.

Off Middle island, where they had sought shelter during the gale, they came upon a disabled speedboat, occupied by Erie County Probate Judge Ray Speer, the owner, and Harry Maibohm, Sandusky. The Speer boat had lost its propeller, and was drifting helplessly, battered by the heavy seas.

The Mansfielders got a line aboard Speer's boat, and towed it to a sheltered spot.

Both boats then dropped anchor, and weathered the storm, with all aboard donning life preservers during the night.

Left Early Wednesday.

The Richland county party had left here early in the day to go fishing in Lake Erie, and had planned to return to Sandusky, where Stone keeps his boat, around 6 p. m.

However, according to Stone's story to coast guardsmen, the fishing was so good that the party stayed out long past the intended time.

"I never saw the fishing any better," Stone was quoted as saying.

Then the storm hit. Lake Erie, always treacherous, was seething and boiling, under a 40-mile wind.

CHECK VOTES ON COMMITTEEMEN

Election Officials Tabulate Precinct Winners; Prepare for Official Count.

Richland county election board officials today started a check of votes cast for Democratic and Republican precinct committeemen and prepared to compile a report for the secretary of state giving the official count of votes cast in Tuesday's primary races.

George C. Balliet, election board chairman, said a special meeting of the board will be called to certify the official vote just as soon as a check of the poll books is completed.

The official vote must be certified within five days after the election, Balliet said. He added that the special meeting will be held later this week.

It was expected that a check of the party central committeemen vote will be completed late today.

Meanwhile election equipment kits used at the county's 90 precincts were being unpacked and the ballots placed in storage until 30 days expire when they can be legally destroyed.

HOME GUARDED

Garage of Ousted UAW Official Bombed in Night.

DETROIT—(AP)—A police guard was posted today at the home of Richard T. Frankensteen, one of the deposed vice presidents of the United Auto Workers of America, following the bombing late last night of a garage at the rear of his residence.

No one was hurt and the damage was slight.

Frankensteen said his only enemies were "persons on the other side in this UAW factional dispute." He added:

"If they want to intimidate us they will have to go a lot further."

Police indicated they feared an outbreak of factional violence might develop, but a spokesman for President Homer Martin of the UAW said the incident was "too unimportant" to warrant comment.

Soap Box Champ Leaves Tomorrow For Akron Finals

Loren "Sonny" Wiley, Mansfield's 12-year-old Soap-box derby champion, prepared today for the greatest excursion of his life—the one that will take him to Akron to compete in the All-American and International derby Sunday.

Tomorrow afternoon, Sonny accompanied by Donald D. Cram, physical director at the Y. M. C. A., will leave for Akron and three days of what will be jammed with thrills and excitement for the youthful derby racer. They will stay at derby headquarters in the Mayflower hotel.

Sonny's trim little coaster, all refinished, has already been taken to Akron and is on display with 120 other champions' cars at the M. O'Neil department store.

Saturday morning after the weigh-in ceremonies at derby headquarters, the Mansfield champion will get his first and only chance to try out the 1,100-foot concrete course at Derby Downs, near the Akron airport.

The championship races will be held Sunday afternoon.

CHAPTER 13

WHEN NOEL awakened the next morning, her thoughts went back at once to Maida's warning about Nick Luigi. Laurie had warned her too, but Noel resolved to put all thoughts of Nick from her mind. She was too happy today to let her mind dwell on unpleasant things, because in a short while she and Julian would begin their holiday together.

Laurie went to work on Sunday as well as week days, so she was up early. Noel stayed lazily in bed and watched her as she moved about the room getting ready for work. Laurie was always so neat and deft about everything she did with a quick bird-like way of getting things done, it was really fascinating to watch her.

Noel hadn't yet gotten over her clumsiness when it came to doing her hair and nails, working with her clothes and mending her stockings.

Sometimes Laurie would see her struggling with a run and she'd say with a laugh, "Here let me do that. You're all thumbs."

Once she had said teasingly, "Honey, for heaven's sake, don't ever marry a poor man. You'd ruin him."

Laurie had meant it only as a joke, and she didn't see that her words had caused Noel to wince.

Noel learned something nearly every day from Laurie, who was only too glad to explain things to Noel, such as how to find bargains in the basement of the stores, how to shampoo your own hair, and set the wave, how to get shiny places off your woolen clothes.

But Noel knew she would never be as deft with her fingers as Laurie was. This morning she got up early, as she had to work on her suit. It had a sort of wilted look since she had gotten it so damp.

As she brushed and pressed the skirt, Noel thought of her expensive tailored suits, the blouses in crepe and lace she had worn with them, as well as the gardenia which she had always considered necessary to complete such an ensemble. All that seemed very far away indeed.

But Noel wasn't looking back regretfully. She believed, like everything else, that the first few weeks of making your own living were always the hardest. She felt serenely confident that when she had a chance to leave Luigi's that things would be ever so much better.

She was dressed in the suit skirt of tweed, and a little slip-on sweater of Laurie's, part wool and cotton, which was just exactly the color of Noel's eyes (which was why Laurie had insisted she should wear it) and the little "beanie" sitting on the back of her head and ready to leave for the De Luxe nearly half an hour before time to meet Julian.

She had even given herself a manicure of sorts, and brushed her hair until it had recovered some of the shimmering beauty it had always possessed when Nanette, her maid, had taken care of it.

Remembering that Julian had remarked upon her paleness, she used rouge and lipstick. Then she started walking slowly toward the De Luxe. It would be better to be 10 minutes late than even two minutes early.

By walking slowly and stopping for a bit of window-shopping now and then, it was a little past the hour when Noel entered the De Luxe.

Laurie was busy at the register, checking up the breakfast tickets, and Julian was standing near, with one elbow resting on the cigar counter.

Then he and Noel were waving Laurie goodby and walking out together. Julian looked like a boy in his red turtle-neck sweater, with his dark hair tousled a little and his eyes eager.

In another minute they were in the car, Julian at the wheel carefully threading his way through the early morning traffic.

For a while there had been a few clouds in the sky. But just as they left the city limits, the sun came out in a great smiling burst of light. It was going to be a glorious day, Noel told herself happily.

"We're passing Riverside park and going down the river about 20 miles or so," Julian told her. And added, "I wanted to be sure we could have our part of the river and the woods to ourselves. The rowboat will be there waiting on the bar."

"I had no idea you were so efficient about picnics," Noel commented admiringly.

"Listen," Julian began with some of the boastfulness of a small boy, "you'd be surprised to find out how efficient I am about a lot of things in the woods. I was born on the 'wrong side' you know, 'way out in the sticks. I'm a country boy."

"If you don't look out, some day you'll grow up to be president," Noel teased.

Julian gave a chuckle.

If Noel had only known it, she hadn't needed rouge or lipstick either, for the crisp morning air soon whipped up a rich color in her eyes. It was wonderful to be sitting here beside Julian, feeling his shoulder occasionally brush hers, watching his sensitive, slender, brown fingers guiding the car.

Then she realized that Julian was stopping. He took his hands off the wheel, pulled an immaculate handkerchief from his pocket, and applied it gently but firmly against her cheeks and lips. "Now you look better," he said and started the car again.

He had removed the rouge and lipstick entirely. "Julian, you are simply too, too funny," Noel laughed.

He gave a little chuckle. "I suppose I am."

"I hadn't any idea you were so old-fashioned," Noel went on, and then said, "and I do wish you wouldn't treat me as a child."

"But that's what you are. A dreadfully spoiled, willful, stubborn—but quite adorable—child.

"That's not true," Noel retorted with a little pout.

"It's a good thing I'm not looking at you now," Julian said, seemingly for no reason at all, but his words brought a quick flush to Noel's cheeks. She thought he meant that if he had been looking at her while her lips were drawn into a pout, he would have kissed her. But of course she couldn't always be sure just what Julian did mean. He was often enigmatic.

Then they reached the little spot on the river where there was a sand bar, and a rowboat beached right in the very spot where Julian had expected it to be. He brought cushions from the back of the car, arranged them in one end of the boat, then held out his hand to Noel. "Cleopatra, your barge awaits—"

Another minute and Noel was seated in the end of the boat, leaning luxuriously against the cushions, while Julian took his seat in the center, putting the oars into the oar-locks.

"Noel, I have a confession to make," he said as he started rowing. "It's absolutely necessary for me to sing when I row a boat and find myself off in the woods like this. I hope you'll be able to take it philosophically."

"This is too dreadful," Noel bantered. "I suppose you're also a bathroom baritone. Your would be."

"Must you be personal?" Julian retorted. "How about 'The Long, Long Trail?'" he went on. "My repertoire is not very modern, but what it lacks in that way, I make up in noise."

"I knew this was going to be awful," Noel commented.

"That only proves that you know nothing of good music." Julian began. Then he lifted his voice and began singing in a really nice, but untrained voice full of gusto and feeling. In a minute Noel's clear soprano joined in.

When they had finished, Julian laid down the oars and let the boat drift for a few minutes. "Why, Noel, you really can sing. Your voice—," he stopped as if for a moment at a loss for words. "It sort of cuddles up against your heart strings."

"I'm entirely too comfortable, or I'd make you a bow for such a pretty speech," Noel said, lazily letting her fingers trail in the water.

"It is a surprise to find that you have such a sweet voice," Julian repeated.

"You might learn other things about me equally as surprising, my erratic young friend," Noel countered.

"Are you still trying to upset my theories about young ladies who have too much money?"

"Yes, I'm still trying," Noel admitted. "But whether or not I'm succeeding—," she stopped with a shrug.

"And if you should succeed?" Julian asked after a pause.

"Then—you can get me off your conscience," Noel returned, resorting to flippancy to hide a sudden feeling of confusion.

A few minutes later, Julian announced that it was time for lunch, and rowed back to the sand bar.

Noel spread a red-checked table cloth, and Julian mysteriously produced a thermos bottle. "Give you three guesses."

"Milk!" Noel exclaimed with a moue.

"You're not even warm." Julian pretended disgust.

"Coffee, then. And I hope it's warm at least."

HELP TO FIGHT CHINESE WAR BEHIND LINES

American-Educated Students Carry on to Save Nation Far From Battlefield.

(By Associated Press)

SHANGHAI—An American-educated Chinese student, J. L. Huang, is the active head of "the new life movement," a vast organization attempting to rally every resource of the nation against the Japanese invaders.

Huang studied at Columbia university, New York City.

His right-hand man is Paul Yen, a graduate of Edinburgh university, and a number of other American and European educated students are playing leading roles in spreading the "new life" gospel.

Teng Kwei, for instance, is a sculptor and a graduate of Harvard university who now heads an industrial management plan under which hundreds of war refugees in the interior have been making socks, straw sandals and towels for Chinese troops at the front.

Mobilize Civilian Aid.

Scattered over China—not including sections occupied or invaded by the Japanese—are 30 provincial and 300 branch associations. All are engaged actively in mobilizing the people of the nation to aid their fighting men.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek started "the new life movement" four years ago to foster a new national consciousness and rational living among the Chinese.

He became the national head and Madame Chiang the organization's director-at-large.

Since the outbreak of Chinese hostilities nearly 13 months ago the associations throughout the country have taken on many new tasks in addition to giving the public mass training in hygiene, scientific farming and other things.

Help For Soldiers.

Among their new services are the collection and distribution of articles of comfort to wounded soldiers; relief activities in villages swept by the war; and aid for refugees from the war zones and flood areas.

They also spread the gospel of armed resistance against the Japanese. Farmers are instructed in seed and crop improvement in order to raise larger and better crops for the nation's food bins.

The movement is organized along the lines of the Y. M. C. A., but religious features of the latter organization are lacking.

Madame Chiang is active particularly in the "protect our war waifs" campaign. Hundreds of orphans are being collected from the war zones and sent to institutions in various parts of China. The goal of the campaign is to take care of 20,000 children.

There are ten branches of "the new life movement" in foreign countries where there are large numbers of Chinese. These have aided considerably through donations of money and medical supplies.

'Toast of '90's', Leaves Home to Live With Her Kin

PITTSBURGH—(AP)—Fay Templeton, toasted in the "Gay Nineties" for her performances in Gilbert and Sullivan operettas, has left her Pittsburgh home "forever"—alone, ill and almost unnoticed.

Few who passed her wheel chair in the railroad station recognized the grey, portly woman, clad in a dark dress and wearing a heavy black veil, as the glamorous star of "Roberta," "H. M. S. Pinafore," and other hits of the last century.

She was bound for San Francisco where she planned to spend the remainder of her life with relatives. Once a guest of the city's finest hotels, she had lived in modest rooming houses and the Actors Fund Home in Englewood, N. J., since the death of her husband, William J. Patterson, in 1931.

Pastor Sees With Eye 'Donated' Him At Woman's Death

SAN FRANCISCO — (INS)—The cornea of the eye of a dead woman today gave sight to a living man.

Rev. U. E. Harding, Portland, Ore., minister, saw light through the cornea of an eye taken from the body of Mrs. Margaret Carr, 80, Berkeley, shortly after she died.

The operation, performed in a San Francisco hospital, was pronounced a success when physicians removed the bandages from Rev. Harding's eyes, and he was able to distinguish colors and count figures in a semi-dark room.

Mrs. Carr, a member of Rev. Harding's church, bequeathed her eye to him after he had pleaded without avail with condemned prisoners at San Quentin prison for an eye.

Mrs. Carr died July 31, the cornea of her eye was removed and preserved by a refrigerating process recently developed by Russian surgeons.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

OUT OF DANGER

Dancer Who Fought Operation Wins Battle for Life.

CHICAGO—(INS)—Ada Leonard, strip-tease queen who faced death rather than let a surgeon's knife mar her body, could face her public without a scar today.

Miss Leonard refused to allow doctors to operate when she was stricken with acute appendicitis, saying a scar would ruin her career. Taken to Grant hospital, her appendix broke and peritonitis developed. She still declined to let doctors use the knife and physicians resorted to blood transfusions.

Now Miss Leonard has been pronounced out of danger.

DAWLISH, Eng.—(AP)—Major Ralph Rayner has stumbled on to an effective weapon against hawks. He ties bells to his pigeons' legs.

Then he discovered that the bells frightened hawks away. Formerly he lost three birds a week; now the hawks give them a wide berth.

BUCYRUS — Crawford county voters rejected three and approved two of the five special issues submitted at Tuesday's primary.

6 LOST ON LAKE ERIE RESCUED

Richland County Party Rides Out Storm in Powerboat; Found by Coast Guard.

Because the waves were so high, the party was unable to attempt to make the reurn trip to Sandusky.

Mrs. Gilbert Calls For Help.

Mrs. Gilbert, who had waited until 11:30 for the party to return, notified police, who in turn notified coast guards.

Coast guard boats, busy hunting other craft in the vicinity, searched for hours, without finding any trace of the Mansfield and Shelby men. At that time, there had been no report of the fact that Judge Speer's boat was still out in the lake.

Coast guardsmen finally found both boats about 8 a. m. and escorted them to Sandusky.

As soon as they reached shore, the Mansfielders notified members of their families that they were safe. They started for Mansfield shortly before noon.

The coast guard cutter Frederick Lee radioed that it had picked up eight persons in a stalled boat near Toledo while the captain of a lake freighter wirelessed that he had rescued nine persons from a yacht, its motor stalled, between West Sister and Middle islands.

START CHURCH

Work on $50,000 Loudonville Edifice Begins in 2 Weeks.

LOUDONVILLE— Construction work on a new church for St. Peter's Catholic congregation here will begin within two weeks, the Rev. L. E. Rockwell, pastor, announced today.

The edifice, which will be erected on the site of the old church that was razed after one side of the building collapsed three years ago, will cost $50,000. It will be built of Briar Hill stone and the architecture will be of Old English country chapel style.

J. J. Collins of Cleveland Heights is the architect. The name of the contractor has not been announced.

The first St. Peter's church was erected in 1871. Since the old church was condemned as unsafe, services have been held in the public school auditorium for the last two years. Rev. Rockwell came here two years ago.

GO AHEAD WITH PENSION PROBE

Security Board Says Davey Defeat Won't Halt Plans for Investigation.

WASHINGTON —(UP)— Social Security board officials said today the defeat of Gov. Martin L. Davey for renomination would not change its plans to conduct an investigation into administration of the old age pension program in Ohio.

They noted although one reason for the promised inquiry was evidence that appeals had been made to pensioners for support of the governor in the primaries, Chairman Arthur J. Altmeyer's original announcement of the investigation indicated it would go far beyond that phase.

In his announcement, Altmeyer informed H. J. Berrodin, chief of the state old age pension office that "other information indicates there are serious deficiencies in the administration of old age assistance in Ohiio."

Frank Bane, executive director of the board, suggesting that the hearing would be held late this month, said the board had been studying the Ohio situation for some time and had "considerable information to indicate that the Ohio administration was perhaps not in conformity with the Social Security act."

YOUNG SLAYER GIVEN 'LIFE'

Three Judges Sentence Youth for Brutal Murder of Cincinnati Girl.

(By United Press)

CINCINNATI—Fifteen-year-old Lindbergh Heist Trent was sentenced to life imprisonment today by tribunal of three common pleas judges for the murder of Shirley Ann Woodburn, 6, whose mutilated body was found on a wooded hillside here last Memorial day.

The boy had confessed that he lured the child to the woods, induced her to disrobe, and stabbed her to death when she tried to run away. He was found guilty on one of two counts in a first degree murder indictment.

The verdict stipulated that Trent serve the sentence in Ohio penitentiary. There had been some speculation that he would be sent to the state reformatory until 21 years old.

In a six-page opinion, written by Judge Alfred Mack and concurred in by Judges Charles S. Bell and Allen C. Roudebush, a section of the Ohio general code was cited, providing that "no person convicted of murder in the first degree shall be sent or transferred to the reformatory."

The count on which the boy was convicted charged that he "unlawfully, deliberately and with premeditated malice killed Shirley Ann Woodburn on May 29."

The second count, on which all three judges said he was not guilty, charged that he killed the girl "while attempting to perpetrate a rape."

YOUNGSTERS TO PUT PETS ON PARADE FRIDAY

150 From 12 Playlots Groom Animals for Annual March Through City Streets.

Pets of all descriptions were being groomed today by their youthful owners in preparation for the annual pet show and parade to be staged tomorrow by the city playgrounds.

About 150 children from the 12 playlots are expected to enter pets in the parade, Al Fendrick, playground director, said.

In addition to those entering pets, other children registered at the grounds also will march in the parade which begins at 2:30 p. m. Pets will be entered under six classifications, most unusual pet, best dressed pet, most clever pet, largest cat, smallest dog, and the largest group of pets. Prizes will be awarded to the first place winner in each division.

Begins at School.

The parade will begin at Carpenter school, moves to Mulberry street, north on Mulberry to Park avenue west, east on Park avenue to Walnut street, north on Walnut to Third street, east on Third to North Main street, south on Main to West Second street, west on Second to Mulberry, south on Mulberry to West First, then to the school where they will disband. Judging pets will be made along the line of march instead of Central park as has been the custom in past years, Fendrick said.

Among the events held at the playgrounds today was a doll show at the Carpenter ground. Three games in the playground kittenball leagues were played Wednesday. In the Senior league Prospect defeated Brinkerhoff, 8 to 3; Johns park beat Temple court, 8 to 3, and in the Junior league Prospect defeated Hedges, 11 to 0.

A Farmer's Diary

By Calvin A. Byers

THE CLOVER FIELD

I DROVE along a lovely clover field today. It was a second crop, but I never saw a stand so thick and perfect; it seemed that all the stalks had headed out at the same time.

The farmer saw my interest, and came from the barn where he was working.

"That's wonderful clover," I said. "You must have cut the first crop early."

"Yes, it was the earliest hay made round these parts. Cut it the second week of June. My but it was thick! Hair on a dog's back never grows any thicker. It made three big loads to the acre and piled that big mow clear to the comb. I left it settle, and then filled it up to the roof again.

"I never saw a second crop come on so fast in all my life! The darn stalks get prettier every day! Sometimes when I come from the chores in the morning I stand with a full milk pail in each hand and look and look. Don't know why, but there's somethin' about them bloomin' heads that keeps me goin' all day through.

"Look how even it is . . . clear up to them trees yonder. See how the heads keep noddin' as if they was alive and breathin'. Just when the sun is up and peeps across it, it makes a finer sight than any other time. Smells sweeter then, too. Comes to my nose so thick, seems like I can almost touch it."

He paused, and grinned, apologetically, wondering at his own loquacity.

"The bumblebees are busy," said I.

"Millions of 'em. They make the clover seed. I believe I'm goin' to have a killin' by the way I see 'em work. Honest, I don't believe the good Lord could have made a prettier thing than that clover field. It's so kind o' satisfyin.' "

I saw the farmer's moist eyes, as he turned away, and felt the presence of a kindred soul.

NEWPORT MILL SEEN AS VIKING

Archaeologist Says He Can Prove Structure Went Up in 12th Century.

(By United Press)

NEWPORT, R. I.—Philip Ainsworth Means, a Pomfret, Conn., archaeologist, has offered to prove that Newport's famous Old Stone Mill was built by Norsemen in the 12th century—if Newport advances him $5,000 to $10,000 for the project.

In a letter to the Newport park commission, Means said he is convinced the mill is about 600 years older than believed. He took exception to the accepted history of the mill that Governor Arnold patterned it after the Chesterton Windmill at Warwickshire, England.

"In 1937 I made a study journey to Germany, Denmark, Sweden, Norway and Iceland, where I made an intensive study of materials in libraries in those countries," Means wrote. "I believe the Old Stone Mill is of Norse origin. I can prove it was not built by Governor Arnold under the circumstances mentioned. Equally sound proof of what the building is can be obtained only by scientific excavation."

Park commissioners said Means told them he would accept, at a $1-a-year salary, the job of supervising the excavating. But the commission failed to share Means' enthusiasm. It rejected the offer.

Father Cast In Role of Defense Attorney For Son

BLUEFIELD, W. Va.—(U.P.)—Hugh G. Woods, one of West Virginia's oldest practicing attorneys and a former judge of the criminal court, was cast in the role of a defense lawyer for his own son here today.

The son, "Buster" 28, was held in jail for questioning in connection with the slaying of Grayson Bell, 31.

Bell was shot while visiting a girl friend, Beatrice Hale Young Wood dated Beatrice's sister, authorities said.

Sheriff G. H. Crumpecker said his deputies took young Woods into custody at his home a short time after the slaying. They reported finding a .32 caliber automatic in a pocket of his clothes.

Judge Wood conferred with his son in a cell at the county jail.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 11, 1938.

Unless you have a hobby of your own you'll never understand the fun of it.

It's getting so, in New York, that a returning hero has a hard time coming through alive.

Some thought should surely be given to public presentation of leather medals to those ardent supporters of the school bond issue who failed to register—and therefore couldn't vote.

Looking Toward November Election.

WITH the primaries now in the background, political interest in Ohio for the next three months will center in speculation as to the probable outcome of the November election, with opposing nominees for state, district and county offices coming strongly into the limelight.

Repudiation of the scandal-ridden Davey administration by Ohio Democrats is being heralded over the state as a victory for the forces of good government and nomination of former Lieutenant Governor Charles Sawyer as candidate for governor is being accepted as an expression of intent to restore honesty and capability to handling of state business and administration of various state departments.

The record of Charles Sawyer, public and private, has been such as to inspire confidence in him as a man and as an official and his election as governor would give reason to feel that a clean, capable and conscientious person had been elevated to that responsible position.

Contests that may be expected to hold chief interest locally are those for United States senator, with Robert A. Taft as the Republican nominee opposing present Democratic Senator Robert J. Bulkley; for congressman in the Seventeenth district, with William A. Ashbrook again the Democratic nominee and Walter B. Woodward, Bellville Townsend plan supporter, as his Republican opponent; the state senatorial contest between P. H. Rogers, Republican, and Maurice C. Brown, Democrat; and the county contests between John C. Friday, Republican, and C. L. Mitchell, Democrat, for commissioner, and between Ralph C. Lutz, Democrat, and Harry H. Maxwell, Republican, for representative to the legislature.

Disclosure in connection with the primaries and special election Tuesday that a considerable number of Mansfield voters had failed to register or transfer (and were therefore ineligible to vote) justifies further emphasis on the importance of all new voters, and those who have moved, making sure that they are properly registered in advance of election.

Why Relief Levies Failed.

OVERWHELMING defeat of the Mansfield and Madison township proposed tax levies for relief purposes gives some idea of the extent to which voters in local subdivisions have become inclined to throw the relief burden on the state and federal government.

The proposed 2-mill levy for Mansfield was later complicated by a 1-mill levy proposal for Madison township, which would have made a total 3-mill levy against Mansfield real estate.

Realizing that it is taxpayers who are already providing the billions of dollars being expended by federal and state governments for relief, and believing that much of this money is being wasted, defeat of the two local relief levies occasioned no surprise.

Under ordinary conditions the people of a city such as Mansfield and a township such as Madison would have no inclination to disregard their obligation to provide the necessities of life for the worthy poor in their own community, as was done for many years prior to New Deal meddling and muddling.

Under present conditions, and until there is better understanding of the extent of legitimate relief needs and greater confidence that relief administration does not involve a large waste of public money, there is little likelihood of taxpayers voting an additional burden upon themselves by approving such relief levies as were rejected this week.

Tolerance for Profits.

AN INTERESTING fact regarding big incomes, and the public attitude toward them, is pointed out by Russell Weisman, economic columnist.

> "The curious fact is," he says, "that the public is much less concerned by the huge earnings of professional entertainers, some of whose contributions to society might well be dispensed with, than with the large salaries and profits of industrial executives whose operations are much more closely related to productive effort."

He doesn't object to the remuneration of a big radio crooner or a motion picture star, but is bothered by the state of public taste and morals which seems to consider their services more valuable than those of men making a constructive and permanent contribution to the community.

The public doesn't figure these things out, but acts on feeling and instinct. Perhaps the popular entertainer's big reward is tolerated more than the business man's because the former gives pleasure more simply and directly than the ordinary business man can do.

The public knows, too, that the successful entertainers, no less than successful merchants, bankers or industrialists, have to pay big income taxes. Also that what entertainers have left is usually frittered away, and doesn't result in any concentrated "money power" which might be considered oppressive to society.

Deceased Law Firms.

AT the recent convention of the national bar association, one of the large state delegations got into a serious discussion of what some observers call "the dead hand of the law." This has to do not with the law itself, but with the lawyers. A recommendation was offered and debated, that the use of names of deceased members in law firms be prohibited two years after their death.

There are in many states, perhaps all of them, law firms still including in their firm titles the names of founders or partners long gone. In some cases all the names used are of men no longer living. Such names naturally have value in their suggestion of age, dignity and responsibility, but younger members of the firm, now doing the active work, sometimes resent it. Rivals, too, often think it isn't fair.

Advertising Broadens Horizons, Makes Selling Possible

NO MATTER how good an article may be, or how willing you would be to buy it, you must be told about it before you even know there is such a thing.

When only a few automobiles were built each year the prices were so high that not many people could afford to own one.

The same is true with a lot of other things—radio sets, electrical conveniences, in fact almost anything you can think of.

Advertising, which is the means of communication between seller and buyer, has come into such general acceptance in recent years that many people do not stop to think that without advertising there would be no way of telling millions of people about the thousands of things that are for sale and the low prices made possible by mass production and distribution would be impossible.

This subject is well presented in a recent editorial in The Chicago Herald and Examiner which merits reproduction:

* * * * *

THE selling of merchandise and services always has been and always will be an important and a PROPER function of industry and economics.

Our national life is based entirely on the production and use of goods and services.

We prosper or languish, according to the volume of that intercourse.

Every man's job is concerned with the production of some thing or service other men use or need, and his own needs and desires in turn provide outlets for the wares and services upon which the livelihood of others depend.

Everybody understands the necessity of free and voluminous exchange of goods and services.

Everybody understands its relation to the prosperity of the country through the profitable employment of its people.

Everybody should therefore understand the vital relationship between the selling and buying of goods and services and ADVERTISING.

THERE must be COMMUNICATION between the buyer and the seller.

It is not sufficient for a prosperous condition that one man should produce a useful product or be trained to render a useful service, and await the coming of a buyer He should be able to invite and attract buyers. He should be able to inform the greatest possible number of people of the merits and economic advantages of his products or services.

The story of goods and services is always new and ALWAYS NEWS.

The story MUST BE TOLD.

People must have information and KNOWLEDGE.

It fits the product of the seller to the need of the buyer.

It opens up the whole vast field of goods and services for convenient and intelligent selection and choice by the buyer.

* * * * *

CALVIN COOLIDGE said his reading of advertisements BROADENED HIS HORIZON immeasurably beyond what his own eyes or understanding or knowledge could teach him.

Every man's horizon is broadened by education, and legitimate advertising is essentially education.

Every man's job is dependent upon advertising, because in selling the product of his labor it presents him with NEW OPPORTUNITIES for labor.

Every man's wage is dependent upon advertising, because it speeds and multiplies the processes of USE which spell the difference between national stagnation and the vitalizing activity of a nation.

Advertising is among the most important of CREATIVE FUNCTIONS.

Advertising has made possible the widest distribution of the things which contribute most to comfort and to enjoyable and useful living, not the equipment of the rich or the privileged few, but the common and familiar equipment of ALL THE PEOPLE.

How the Wheat Crisis Came About

—By MORGAN M. BEATTY

WASHINGTON—The year 1938 is all set to go down in history as the eighth year of the great American wheat crisis.

It marks another year of America's retreat from the world wheat market—a retreat that began to take a definite trend in 1930.

All the big wheat-growing nations of the world are raising good wheat crops this year. It begins to look as if they will pour four billion bushels of the golden grain into the world's bread basket. Four billion bushels is 900,000,000 bushels too much wheat.

Trade Would Help.

TRUE, calamity could overtake part of the crops. Bugs or disease could do a lot of damage. Or a war could come along. In that event cautious nations would store wheat. But it's doubtful that these things will happen. The best thing would be a revival of world trade.

Unfortunately, America's 80,000,000 wheat acres will contribute more than their share to the glut of grain. They are going to yield a new record crop—close to one billion bushels.

Stem rust, the fungus growth that stunts little wheat grains, is doing its utmost to reduce the bumper American crop, but the rust got started late. The experts figure it can't take over 150,000,000 bushels. That would still leave a near-record crop.

They're Doing It Now.

TOGETHER with last year's surplus, the American public can eat up half the expected billion bushels.

What's to be done with the other half?

Sell it to other nations? Fine chance! America's big competitors will have plenty of wheat, and will be struggling like mad to get it on the world market. Dump it on the world at cut-throat prices? The other fellow can dump wheat, too, and come out on top, because his money is not as good as ours.

The government is trying to arrange to peddle some of the American surplus in an orderly way to other governments at reduced prices. The taxpayers would take up the slack.

The crop comes along before the New Deal has had a chance to show what its new formulas for the wheat farmer can or cannot do. Bumper crops are a handicap for crop control, crop insurance, the ever-normal granary, wheat quotas, and all that. Those schemes require payments to farmers to cut down their production and to bolster home prices. The more the acreage is cut and the lower the world wheat price, the more it costs the government (which is the taxpayer) or the farmer.

It Was Easy Once.

THERE are many reasons for the great American wheat crisis. But by and large, foreign competition for the world wheat market has been the No. 1 trouble maker.

Between 1860 and 1930, American wheat growers had the inside track on a downhill pull. They had the world's richest, easiest-to-cultivate, and most extensive wheat lands. They developed the lands with machinery. In 1898 they were supplying 51 per cent of the world's exported wheat.

Our growing population required more and more wheat to make bread for the homefolks. But even so, America still had one-fifth of the world's export wheat market in 1929.

But all along, Canada, Australia, Argentina, and Europe's Danubian basin were closing in. For instance, Canada contributed a mere 20,000,000 bushels to the world in 1900. In 1936, she exported 12 times that much.

Tariff Walls Go Up.

AND as if to complicate an already cockeyed situation, Uncle Sam was constantly raising his tariff walls. Then a few years after the World war he stopped lending money to European nations. These things cut off from foreigners the supply of money they had been using to buy American wheat. Then other nations began raising their own tariff walls in the late 20's.

The drought years — 1933-37 — knocked the American farmer out of the world market. True, he had a piece of good luck in 1937. A wheat shortage in other big exporting nations handed him 18 per cent of the world market, which meant the sale of around 90,000,000 bushels.

But 1938 is a different story. The American farmer planted 80,000,000 acres to wheat, close to a record. This time he guessed wrong. There is no wheat shortage abroad.

Health Advice

What to Do for Appendicitis.

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

ONE CORRESPONDENT whose letter appears on my desk this morning, can be answered very promptly. The question is, "What is the olive oil treatment of appendicitis?" The answer, "There is no olive oil treatment of appendicitis." Any more than there is a mad stone treatment of hydrophobia, or the wedding ring massage treatment of styes, or hiding the dishrag under the porch treatment of warts. I do not mean to say there are no such treatments practiced, but they belong to the Silurian epoch.

There isn't any dietetic treatment of appendicitis unless doing absolutely nothing is a form of treatment. But the "NOTHING" must be done in the most positive way.

There are only a few things that any family needs to know about appendicitis.

(1) It may occur to anybody, but is most likely to occur in young adult life—from the age of 15 to 40.

(2) Any acute abdominal pain may be appendicitis. Severe abdominal pain accompanied by diarrhea probably isn't, but no acute abdominal condition should be temporized.

Pain Often Vague at First.

(3) The pain is more often a vague discomfort at first, and is more often in the region of the stomach than in the region of the appendix. When accompanied by nausea, vomiting, constipation and fever, don't ask anybody's advice, except the doctor's.

(4) If you are going to ask any advice, except the doctor's, when you have an acute abdominal upset, the safest thing is a clinical thermometer. Shake it down and leave it under the tongue for two minutes. That will save you asking advice from the neighbors at least that long.

(5) Appendicitis is a very serious malady, and does not respond to amateur treatment. Nobody and no member of his family—even if this happens to include a doctor—is competent to give good advice in the face of this emergency.

(6) The doctor may decide to operate or he may decide not to operate. This depends on circumstances. Leave the judgment to him.

(7) Until the doctor arrives there are a number of important things to do. They can all be summed up by saying, "Do nothing." Do not give any food, any water or anything else by mouth. Do not try to minimize the pain by drugs.

(8) Above all, do not give a cathartic. Do not give a cathartic in any acute digestive upset on your own advice or that of the neighbors or that of a druggist. If the upset is "indigestion" it will probably get well in the course of time without a cathartic, or if it doesn't, the cathartic can be given later. If it is anything organic, the cathartic will make it worse.

Timely Editorial

Pope Warns Il Duce.

The entire civilized world outside the totalitarian states, regardless of creeds, will appreciate the outspoken rebuke of Pope Pius to Premier Mussolini concerning the dictator's apparent intention to promote racial hatred. Fomenting of ill-will against national groups is always despicable. It is particularly contemptible in the case of the Fascists who are only parroting the Nazis.

No political regime can endure upon a program of purges and hostility toward minority groups. Hatred is forever paid back in fierceness. Il Duce will do well to heed the wise and temperate warning.—Toledo Blade.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—One of the saddest commentaries on New York life is the dearth of playground facilities for little children. I know the official guides list an imposing number of parks and recreational centers, but one has only to stroll through the streets to see how impossible conditions really are.

I have in mind those warrens of streets off Tenth avenue where thousands of children are huddled like rabbits with nothing but the baked cement on which to play.

Sometimes the cops come by and close off a street so that the hazards of traffic will be reduced, and then for three blocks the street becomes a bedlam of dirty, gleeful little boys and girls.

THE other day I was over that way and a cop was speaking to a mother who seemed old before her time. In her lap was a baby who through all that confusion somehow managed to sleep. "Look," said the cop, "look, Mrs. Mally, there's your Billy over there. He's stark naked."

Across the street on the curb stood a little boy about five. His head was a mass of sandy curls. His fat little stomach and chubby cheeks made him look like a rotund billiken. His mother looked at him and shook her head helplessly, as if such matters as misplaced trousers hardly mattered any more. Then she called to a tall girl, about 11, who was several doors down the street. "Sally," she said, "go get Billy and find out what he did with his pants."

"All right, Ma," the girl answered, "but you better speak to him. He won't mind me."

THE girl trotted across the street to where Billy stood on the curb. His attention was riveted on two older boys who were shooting each other with make-believe pistols. The cop said, "Fine boy, Mrs. Mally. He looks more like his old man every day. How is Joe anyway?"

At the sound of Joe's name the woman brightened, "Oh, fine," she exclaimed. "He's working regular now. He's down to the docks."

"Well, now I sure am glad to hear you say so. I must tell Mrs. McClooney. She'll be that pleased."

The woman spoke happily. "And his back doesn't hurt him much anymore except on wet days. I think Joe's all right. He's a good man."

"Joe's one of the best. You tell him McClooney was asking after him. And tell him I said for him to bring you over to see me and the missus sometime."

"Oh, that'll be nice," Mrs. Malley replied. She would have said more, but just at that moment a shriek went up and there was little Billy struggling against the ministrations of his sister.

"You, Billy," called his mother, "you come here this minute. You do what your sister tells you to. Sally, make Billy find his pants."

The last I saw of Billy he was being led across the street . . . The two older boys were still shooting each other with make-believe pistols . . . The voices of 500 other children lifted in a cloud of confused noises that can be described, it seems to me, in no other way than simply as the voice of New York.

Listen, World!

"Not Heroes But Thieves!"

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

(Written in warmest tribute to Hizzoner Superior Judge Roy B. Maxey of California . . . with the fervent wish that he were, at least, quintuplets.)

GOSH, things were slow! Nothin' to do but the same ole chores . . . nowhere to go but some silly ole school or screwy ole job! Cripes, wot kinda life wuz that for Two-fisted Guys?

Once upon a time a Reg'lar Feller could have a lot o' fun; be a pirate or a highway man or a cattle rustler, maybe. But now—nothin' doin'! Gee, it got you down, livin' like this! But they wuzzn't licked yet! Jess give 'em time and they'd show those Old Fatheads that there wuz some kids who wuzn't sissies!

And so for eight long months, Masters Lyle Tara, 17, James Henniger, 17, and Bill Grace, 16, pondered some plan whereby they might prove their red-blooded courage and Show Themselves A Time. And, as the whole world now knows, finally settled matters by appropriating the $20,000 yacht Tira, owned by Lew Foote, and setting forth in the most approved piratical manner.

THE ensuing hue and cry made history and the front page. Followed dizzy days when frantic parents, furious officials sought to solve the fate of three Precious Little Darlings—or Poisonous Little Brats, according to taste. Until finally came news that the Tira had put in, for supplies, at Puerta Vallarta, Mexico . . . with its Young Hearties still sitting pretty and hell-bound for nowhere. Whereupon, the long-suffering Mr. Foote flew southward, bestowed an entirely unsolicited forgiveness and returned with the complacent truants.

At which point, according to our best American traditions and precedent, Our Heroes should have been greeted with salvos, sweet kisses, screen tests and talkie contracts. But, to practically everyone's amazement, someone had a seizure of old-fashioned common sense. And so—oo—ooo—

STARS denote a passage of time. Extremely tiresome time for restless young males who craved variety. Gobs and gobs of uninterrupted leisure to Think Things Over, with each Think proving more of a headache than its predecessor. And once more we meet our Rover Boys—but not, alas, on the bounding main. To the contrary, they stand before the bar, facing the coldly unappreciative eye of Superior Judge Roy B. Maxey, listening aghast as he issues the following incredible judgment.

"I sentence you to spend the years from now until you are 21 in Preston Reformatory . . ."

Gulps . . . gasps . . . blubbers! A complete collapse of the buccaneering chin . . . a wholesale wobble of the buccaneering knee! Then, upon the shocked, immensity of silence, the judicial voice takes on once more—

"But I hereby suspend sentence on the following provisions: That you go to church or Sunday school every Sunday; that you learn the Ten Commandments; that you refrain from smoking or the use of alcohol, including beer; and write no stories or pose for pictures—

"AND THAT YOU REMEMBER THAT YOU ARE NOT HEROES BUT THIEVES!"

And there, say I, is an act that deserves at least a dozen Congressional medals! I'm strong for Youth. I'm strong for it even when it's noisy, rambunctious, impudent, reckless and a general pain-in-the-neck. But when Youth becomes deliberately lawless and becomes a common hoodlum, I believe that somebody should give it the works—pronto and plenty.

It's easy to see why modern youngsters should crave such adventure. Young life, in this machine age, has become dangerously denatured. There's too little risk, too little challenge, in our stream-lined, over-padded lives. Kids want Out. And it's up to us, their elders, to help them achieve Out—in the right way.

BUT IT IS NOT UP TO US TO KISS AND CONDONE DOWNRIGHT HOOLIGANISM. IT IS NOT UP TO US TO SNICKER OVER DELIBERATELY ANTI-SOCIAL ANTICS. AND OUR PRESENT PRACTICE OF EXPLOITING SUCH CRIMINAL CAPERS WITH KLEIG LIGHTS AND PARADES, BRANDS US BEFORE ALL CHRISTENDOM AS A NATION OF VULGAR EXHIBITIONISTS . . . AS VICIOUS AND VULGAR AS THOSE THAT CROWDED THE BLOOD-SMEARED ARENAS OF ANCIENT ROME.

"NOT HEROES BUT THIEVES"—You said it, Judge! And this nation owes you a round of cheers!

Strength From a Tree.

I WENT to a flower show, expecting to enjoy it for fifteen minutes and then be bored for an hour.

I saw a red rose, a blue iris, a lavender orchid, and I was interested. I saw a poppy from India that had never blossomed in this land before and was properly impressed.

Then I came upon a tree and all the charm and shapeliness and rarity of the flowers fell from my mind and were lost. They were for a day or for a season—while this tree that stood before me was for the many, many years.

It was a Japanese maple. The sign beside it said it was more than 350 years old. It had been in the same family of nurserymen for all those centuries. It lived in a tub. It was dwarfed. . . . But there it grew in beauty, ten feet tall, with a sturdy trunk and a mass of delicate green that quivered lightly. It was born before the Mayflower crossed the Atlantic; it had been cut and pruned and cramed for centuries, but it breathed as sweetly as though it had never known any restriction, and had lived its long life in the wild competition of a forest.

To a man, standing there in front of it, it seemed a symbol of victory. And, looking at it, I could not keep people from my mind, people who say their lives are "dwarfed" by fate and cramped by responsibility and limited by the fact that their dreams are so much greater than their powers.

The tree, tending to its own business, dwarfed in a tub, had not died beneath the pruning shears, but had shaped itself into beauty. Hundreds of times through the centuries it had brought forth its leaves and seen them drop away—and yet it had not tired. . . . And many an old man, dying, had said to his eldest son, "Guard the maple! Keep it growing!" They thought, each of them, that they were protecting their tree, but the tree, I think, was protecting its guardians from littleness and despair.

I have heard no sermon from human lips as powerful as that message from the still green tree growing in a tub at a flower show.

BRICKER AND SAWYER GIRD FOR FALL DRIVE

Dem Nominee Calls Meeting of Committee; G. O. P. Rival Fires Opening Blast.

chairman the state central committee also probably will fix a date for the party's state convention.

The new state chairman undoubtedly will be acceptable to the Democratic high command in Washington, for Sawyer is a Democratic national committeeman and friendly both to President Roosevelt and Sen. Robert J. Bulkley, who was renominated for the senate.

Sawyer announced he wished the aid of all successful Democratic candidates in forming plans for the campaign, and said he would discuss party matters with all of them.

"I do not hold any bitterness toward anyone because of his campaign," he said. "I want all of those who believe in the things for which I stand to join with me in the effort to win the election in November. This applies, of course, to all state employes."

The Republican big guns unlimbered, however, hardly before the primary returns were in and the first statement from John W. Bricker, the unanimous Republican choice, promised to make the Davey-Sawyer fight seem tame by comparison with the Democratic-Republican battle this fall.

Bricker's Challenge.

Despite Sawyer's victory over Davey on reform pledges, Bricker immediately challenged his ability to "get the state out of its present mess."

Announcing today that he would take to the radio in his first campaign address Monday evening, Bricker charged that to be elected Sawyer would require the aid of elements in the Democratic party that supported Governor Davey.

"Charles Sawyer has yet to explain to the people of Ohio how he proposes to be elected if he does not accept aid of those persons in the Democratic party who approve the Davey plan of operating state government for private profit," said Bricker.

"And if he accepts the aid of such persons, what will be the gain to Ohio? If Sawyer accepts their aid he must reciprocate with political favors. Charles Sawyer cannot get the state of Ohio out of its present mess because his candidacy is dependent upon those who are known as defilers of the good name of the state."

Sawyer Holds Peace.

Sawyer, resting at his home in Glendale after winning by a 30,000 majority over Governor Davey, did not reply for the time being. He had the distinction of being the first man since installation of the Ohio primary system ever to have successfully challenged an incumbent governor seeking renomination.

His victory was scored on the basis of strength in the big cities, for he carried only 21 of the 88 counties, the governor's machine working smoothly in the rural areas. The whopping majority for him in Cuyahoga county was the main element in Sawyer's victory.

In the face of the Republican attack he had the satisfaction of knowing that, having won with pledges of reform his running mate for lieutenant governor would be equally zealous in that direction. For James Metzenbaum, Cleveland, diminuitive lawyer, who directed the senate graft investigation, led a field of eight for that nomination, winning by 54,000 over his nearest rival.

New Deal Issue.

The New Deal issue was largely obscured by that heat of the gubernatorial contest, but promised to be a live subject this fall. Robert A. Taft, the Republican nominee, can be counted upon to spare no blows in attacking the pro-New Deal record of Sen. Robert J. Bulkley.

Bulkley easily defeated former Gov. George White and Taft downed Supreme Court Judge Arthur H. Day for the Republican nomination.

In the congressional races there appeared to be no definite method of interpreting results in terms of New Deal sentiment. Congressman-at-large Harold G. Mosier, attacked by his successful opponent, Stephen M. Young, as lukewarm toward the Roosevelt administration, was the only incumbent to lose his seat. On the other hand, Congressman Arthur P. Lamneck, Columbus, in the 12th district, an ardent anti-New Dealer, easily won renomination.

New Deal Opponent Wins.

Likewise in Toledo, Congressman John F. Hunter in the 9th, who was accused of being opposed to some New Deal plans, also was successful.

George H. Bender, Cleveland, and L. L. Marshall, Euclid, won the Republican nominations for congress-at-large. Both are former candidates and both strongly opposed to the New Deal. They can be expected to wage serious battle against Young and Congressman-at-large John McSweeney who won renominations.

The Democrats, in view of the apparent Republican strategy to attempt a weakening of Sawyer's reform cause can point to a weakness in that sort of attack. The Republicans for attorney general chose Col. Thomas J. Herbert, of Cleveland, the 1936 candidate, over State Sen. Verner E. Metcalf, by 40,000 votes.

Metcalf earned the sobriquet "Spark Plug of the Senate Graft Investigation," and promised prosecution of numerous cases growing out of that inquiry.

During the primary campaign Metcalf's friends declared that failure to nominate him would lay the Republicans open to the accusation that they were not intent upon recovering sums alleged to have been lost to the state by practices condemned during the investigation.

One of the closest races was the Republican contest for the nomination for the state supreme court term beginning Jan. 2 between former Attorney General Edward C. Turner, Columbus, and former Supreme Court Judge William L. Hart, Alliance, which Hart won, according to final official figures, by approximately 3,000 votes. Hart was an unsuccessful candidate in 1936.

In other Republican contests, Don L. Ebright, Akron, won the nomination for state treasurer, Earl Griffith, Mt. Gilead newspaper publisher, won again for secretary of state and Paul M. Herbert, the candidate in 1934 and 1936, defeated Charles A. Bracher, of Dayton, for another nomination for lieutenant governor.

MANSFIELD IN OHIO 'NO' LIST

City's Neighbors, Scores of Other Communities Approve Special Issues.

Seneca county of which Fostoria is the county seat, accepted $110,000 and a $16,500 proposal. The latter, proposed at the Old Fort school district came up smiling with the staggering percentage of almost 87 per cent of the voters for it. Only 65 was required.

One of the largest bond issues passed was in Lorain where $1,500,000 was accepted to pay the city's share of an approximate three million dollar bridge program; and $238,000 for paving seven streets. Townships and villages of the county also approved $190,000 for schools. However, districts in the county voted down three school projects totalling $77,500 for village and township schools.

The two largest school bond issues turned down were in Cincinnati and Akron; the former submitted a five and a half million school building program while Akron asked for a two and a half million school bond issue. Both were rejected. While Canton nominated its present mayor, James Secombe as district congressman, it turned down his proposed bond issues for $1,700,000 for new public buildings while Canton and Stark county voters frowned on an additional million for county buildings.

Marion Rejects.

Marion said "no" on a proposed $410,000 school bond issue and on $163,500 in city hall bonds. Both Norwalk and Mt. Vernon turned thumbs down on school bonds, the former in the sum of $154,500 and the latter for $198,000.

One of the cities that approved everything but its school bonds was Youngstown. Voters passed a $2,761,680 building program which included street improvements, bridges, park improvements and a city building, but turned down a million dollars for school buildings.

In a number of cities and counties, however, a plea for new public buildings fell on deaf ears, among them Summit county, Jefferson county, Martin's Ferry, Trumbell county and Hamilton county. Most of these were for courthouses, city buildings and libraries.

CONTINUES CASE OF 4 IN ASHLAND

Court to Hear Pleas to Jury Indictments on Campaign 'Shakedown' Monday.

(By Staff Correspondent)

ASHLAND — Arraigned this morning before Common Pleas Judge C. C. Chapman, the case of the four state highway employes who were indicted Monday by a special Ashland county grand jury on charges of violation of laws protecting civil service employes from being assessed for funds for political office seekers, was continued until next Monday.

Those arraigned were I. R. Ault, division engineer, indicted on nine counts; Ralph Parrott, jr., assistant division engineer, one count; Donald B. Soles, chief mechanic of division No. 3, nine counts, and Morgan J. Fitzpatrick, clerk, two indictments on 26 counts.

No pleas were entered by the defendants, who asked for continuance. All four were represented by Attorney F. D. Schell.

The four will be arraigned at 9 a. m. Monday before Judge Chapman, at which time they will either enter pleas of guilty or not guilty

Indictments were brought against the four following a grand jury investigation conducted by County Prosecutor A. Ross Siverling after Judge Chapman ordered the panel convened, asserting that he had heard that civil service employes were being forced to contribute to Gov. Davey's campaign fund through a "5 per cent" levy.

How 'Heaven' Overlooks President's Home

You're in "heaven" — the "promised land"—new estate of Father Divine, New York colored cult leader, at Krum Elbow, N. Y., and looking across the Hudson river to the grounds of President Roosevelt's Hyde Park home. Father Divine's followers have been enjoying a two-day excursion to their new 485-acre estate formerly owned by Howland Spencer, neighbor of the president's who opposes his policies. On an inspection tour of their "heaven," Father Divine's "angels" were heard to remark: "Peace, peace. Let us look across the river and see our good neighbor."

cleared. Chief among these is the consent of the state tax commission.

He expressed a hope that the Public Works Administration which already has approved Mansfield's $450,000 application for funds, would carry its pledge to assist the local project further by actual allocation of funds.

If the fund is allocated with a time limit set for its expenditure, the board would be able to set a definite time for the special election and proceed with an application to the tax commission for resubmission of the issue, Arlin explained.

Steps to negotiate with PWA officials along this line are already under consideration.

While Mansfield's bond issue was defeated along with the relief levies for Mansfield and Madison township, three other special issues received passing majorities in the county.

In the Butler village school district, a $49,000 bond issue was passed by a majority of 68 per cent. Board of election offices here said that the vote given the issue in Pike and Brown townships of Knox county has not been received here but the office of Boyd W. Robinson, county school superintendent, announced these townships also had approved the issue. A total of 442 persons voted for the measure in Worthington and Jefferson townships of Richland county and 175 opposed it.

Shelby passed a $55,000 bond issue for improvements to the municipal waterworks system and also renewed a one mill levy for general operating purposes

A United Press dispatch from Columbus today said that several other communities where the question of local bond issues for public buildings lost by small margins, have inquired of the state tax commission about the possibility of holding new special elections.

Becker said that the tax commission will act on the formal applications for new elections as they are received.

TWO NEW DEAL CRITICS GIVEN NOMINATIONS

Young's Victory Over Mosier in At-Large Race Rated an Election Upset.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — Representative-at-Large Harold G. Mosier fell in Tuesday's primary before a "100 per cent New Dealer," but in two Ohio congressional contests the victors were candidates described as critics of New Deal policies.

Former Congressman Stephen M. Young of Cleveland defeated Mosier, another Clevelander, in the state's sole upset for incumbent representatives. Opponents said during the campaign that Mosier had forsaken the Democratic party to vote in congress like a Republican.

New Deal Opponents.

Congressman John F. Hunter of Toledo and Arthur P. Lamneck of Columbus won their respective Democratic contests by substantial margins although rivals said both opposed certain Roosevelt policies.

Lamneck won over Wade D. Van Ness of Columbus, his nearest opponent, by approximately 8,000 votes in the twelfth district. Hunter defeated Raymond J. Sheahan of Toledo in the ninth district by more than 12,000.

In the 22nd district, former Congressman Chester C. Bolton of Cleveland, who went down to defeat in the 1936 Roosevelt landslide, won the Republican nomination over Don B. Husted of Geauga county.

Unopposed congressional candidates were Dudley White (R) of Norwalk, Brooks Fletcher (D) of Marion, Robert T. Secrest (D) of Caldwell, Lawrence E. Imhoff (D) of St. Clairsville, and Robert Crosser (D) of Cleveland.

Final returns showed that P. W. Griffits, mayor of Marietta, won the Republican nomination in the 15th district.

Corrigan Soon To Become Co-Pilot For Airplane Line

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Douglas Corrigan said today he planned to return immediately to New York to reassemble his $900 Atlantic-spanning airplane and then to prepare for a regular job.

Feted at a breakfast by Oswald Ryan, member of the civil aeronautics authority, Corrigan told a group of government officials he intended soon to accept a co-pilot's job with an airplane company.

"Co-pilot?" an official asked, "I thought you'd be a bigger shot than that."

"No," smiled the unassuming flier, "I guess it'll be a long time before I'm a big shot."

ROYALTY GETS TASTE OF FAR EAST CONFLICT

Japanese Sends Titled Into Danger Zones of Battle Fronts In China.

(By Associated Press)

TOKYO—Japan has not hesitated to expose royal blood to the perils of war in China and a little of it has been spilled.

Official lists of army and navy units in action in China are studded with titles including the oldest and most aristocratic families in the empire and some closely related to the imperial house itself.

The emperor recently sent his brother, Prince Chichibu, on a long, hazardous trip over the entire China front. He traveled exclusively by airplane from the Siberian border to Shanghai under constant guard of two fighting-ship convoys but always exposed to the danger of sudden attack.

Prince Commands Ship.

Last August a Japanese destroyer squadron was steaming up the Whangpoo river under command of Prince Hiroyoshi Fushimi, son of Prince Hiroyasu Fushimi, chief of the naval general staff.

Near Shanghai it encountered unexpected action when lookouts spotted Chinese constructing fortifications on the river bank. Instantly the air was full of steel, going both ways.

A Chinese shell burst on the deck near the prince and badly shattered his arm. Japanese newspapers proudly reported that he bound the wound with strips of his uniform and remained at his post until the action was over.

All three of the senior Prince Fumishi's sons have seen naval action. Hiroyoshi, the eldest, returned to his squadron after his wound healed. Marquis Kocho Fushimi is a torpedo officer and Count Hirohide Fushimi, the youngest, is a gunnery officer, both on ships in Chinese waters.

Another aristocrat, Prince Kotohiti Kan-In, is chief of the army general staff, the counterpart of Prince Fushimi's rank in the navy Together they are controllers of the imperial headquarters which is directly responsible to the emperor and virtually a separate government for the empire.

Prince Kan-In's son, Prince Haruhito, is an army major. He saw action in the heaviest North China fighting and participated in the capture of Suchow.

The Kan-In family is closely connected with the imperial household. The elder prince was adopted by the late Emperor Komei about 70 years ago

Prince Yasuhiko Asaka was commander of a Japanese force in the battle of Nanking.

GIRL JOB-HUNTERS WARNED NOT TO USE BRIGHT NAIL POLISH

(By International News Service)

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. — Don't use bright nail polish when you look for a job.

That is the advice of Miss Kathryn Bowlby, of the Indiana State Employment Service, who wrote a number of Indianapolis employers asking their requirements for job seekers.

For the females, the men who dispense the jobs don't like the nails that look like they have been clawing the carcass of a wild beast, and they abominate too much make-up, wrinkled hose, slips that show below the dress and fancy shoes.

Men are urged to refrain from putting their hats on the boss's desks, to sit erect, not to dodge questions, be patient, express a willingness to learn and to be alert. They should have their shoes shined and their clothes pressed.

Among the suggestions of Miss Bowlby to both male and female job hunters are:

Be open and frank, even though you may reveal your deficiencies.

Make a good impression on the boss's secretary—he often asks her opinion of you.

Fill in applications carefully. More than 50 per cent are incorrect, according to Miss Bowlby.

Remember to use the employer's name during the interview. He likes the sound of his own name.

Don't run down your previous boss. Appear definitely interested in this particular job—not just any job.

Don't sit down before being asked. Don't fidget.

Watch your carriage makeup and dress. Give reference from former employers, not from teachers, ministers, relatives or friends.

Will Stokowski Be With Garbo When Actress Returns?

HOLLYWOOD —(INS)— Hollywood was indulging in another guessing contest today after it was announced that the one and only Greta Garbo is returning to the film capital.

The question is: Will she be accompanied by Leopold Stokowski, famous orchestra leader, who was her companion in recent jaunts about Europe?

No one knew the answer.

Garbo notified her studio that she will be on hand on Nov 1 to begin work on the first of two pictures scheduled under her present Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer contract.

The actress now is in Copenhagen.

COUNTESS LIKES TRAPPER'S LIFE

Prefers Living Entirely in Wild Country Rather Than City Life in Europe.

(By United Press)

MONTREAL—A Belgian countess who lived alone seven months in a trapper's cabin in the wilds north of The Pas, Man., has arrived here to rest and recuperate from a sunburn, mosquito bites and an injured leg before sailing home to Belgium.

She is the Countess Anne de Mischaegen, explorer, trapper, writer and stepdaughter of a Canadian, the late Sen. H. S. Beland. Despite the hardships she encountered in the wilds, she said she was sorry she was leaving Canada. She prefers running her own trap line in the north and living entirely by herself to the civilization of city life in Europe, she said, and intends to come back to Canada.

"I have spent several winters in the Canadian north country, and I love it," she said.

Before establishing herself in a trapper's cabin at The Pas, she spent some time hunting in the Cariboo valley of the Rockies, where she heard tales of lost gold mines, found that the only grizzly bear in the country preferred to charge her guide and die under his rifle before she even caught sight of the beast, and where she gathered material for her writings. The countess has written three books, all in French, on her North Country and hunting experiences. She cut her leg while chopping wood.

The countess plans to come back to Canada to get one more shot at a grizzly.

POWER BY TVA WIDELY USABLE IN EMERGENCY

Service Possible Through Interconnections With Eastern U. S.

(By United Press)

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — The United States government and Tennessee Valley Authority have evolved a plan whereby the TVA can supply almost any city in the eastern part of the United States with electrical power in event of a national emergency, it has been learned here.

Although TVA engineers said it was not economically practicable to transmit electrical energy much more than 300 miles, they said through a series of physical intercommunications such a practice would be possible.

The engineers said, for example, if a city of 1,000,000 inhabitants should find its power plant destroyed or out of commission, it would be possible to serve that city indirectly with TVA power, although perhaps to a limited degree.

Limit As to Distance.

Forrest Allen, assistant to TVA director David E. Lilienthal, explained:

"At present the distance to which electric power may be economically transmitted is limited. The transmission line between Boulder Dam and Los Angeles is somewhat less than 300 miles long and may be taken as somewhere near the practical limits of transmission. Thus it would hardly be feasible for TVA to serve directly most of the cities . . ."

"However, electric power is highly flexible, and given the necessary physical interconnections it may be shifted over considerable areas at need. I think this may be illustrated by the relations between the TVA and the Arkansas Power and Light company which, as you know, is purchasing energy from the Authority. The two systems are interconnected at Memphis.

"Little Rock, Ark., thus might be considered as receiving part of its power requirements from TVA and the remainder from generation by the Arkansas company at its own plants.

"However, there are further possibilities. The Arkansas system is interconnected with the Louisiana Power and Light company, and power is interchanged between the two. If circumstances warranted, it would be possible for TVA to furnish power to the Arkansas company, which in turn could divert its supply into the Louisiana system.

"Thus, in effect, TVA could aid in supplying cities in Louisiana. This would be practicable, of course, only in the event that the Tennessee Valley, which is looked upon as a natural national defense area, had an abundance of power."

COMPILE DATA

BUCYRUS—With a view of presenting a complete history of Maplecrest, state King's Daughters' home here, at the annual fall convention of the order at Newark in October, a committee of five members of Bucyrus circles has been selected to compile the necessary data.

Mrs. Charles Gallinger is chairman of the group which includes Mrs. Stanley Crowder, Mrs. C. Fred Vollmer, Mrs. A. B. Bradstock and Miss Sara Walden.

RETURN FROM CONVENTION

Clayson Bell, proprietor of the Bell Music company, has returned after attending the convention of the National Music association at the Stevens hotel, Chicago, last week. Various types of pianos, from the miniature cottage style to the big concert grands, and other musical instruments were displayed. Bell and his family later went to The Dells, Wis., for a week's vacation.

INDIAN WEED MIGHT SUBPLANT INSULIN AS DIABETES CURE

(By International News Service)

VANCOUVER, B. C.—From a lowly weed medical science soon may draw a new supply of insulin to combat dread diabetes.

A brew made by boiling root bark of Devil's Club, a familiar British Columbia cactus-like weed, has much the same effect as insulin in relieving diabetes when taken internally, Prince Rupert, B. C., doctors reported.

The preparation, long used by Pacific coast Indians, first came to the attention of Doctors R. G. Large and H. N. Brockelsby when a patient in the Prince Rupert hospital showed symptoms of diabetes when he was not allowed to use his "home-brewed" medicine made from Devil's Club.

Testing the Devil's Club mixture on diabetic rabbits, Doctors Brockelsby and Large discovered the blood sugar count was remarkably reduced" within a short period.

The new substance would be a "great improvement over our present form of insulin, which can be given only with a hypodermic needle," Doctor R. A. Seymour, acting head of the Vancouver general hospital, said.

Greenwich Boy Undergoes Operation When Infection Sets In.

WILLARD — Herbert Ketterman, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ketterman of Greenwich, was recovering at Municipal hospital today after having learned that a bee sting is something more than slap-stick comedy.

Herbert was taken to the hospital Monday night for an emergency operation following an infection on his forehead. He was stung by a bee about a week ago and later went swimming at a pool. The swollen place on his forehead became infected and an Elyria surgeon was called to perform an operation when the infection became serious.

The boy was reported to be improving today.

Book of the Week

"THE BIG FOUR," by Oscar Lewis; (Knopf: $4.50.)

Oscar Lewis' "The Big Four" is by no means the first book about the four men who created the Southern Pacific and administered its affairs according to their pattern for so long. We have not read them all, and have no idea whether it is the best book of the lot. But certainly it is one of the most entertaining, because Mr. Lewis has not allowed his indignation to force him past the point of irony. There is so much in this story of breed indignation—

Four small time shopkeepers, through no fault of their own and no virtue, create a great railroad. They do it as the result of the foresight of a forgotten man, Theodore Dehone Judah. They do it with the aid of an amazingly prodigal and apparently blind government, which actually moved the Sierra Nevada foothills (on paper) so that the Big Four could collect more from the public treasury. They run their toy by means of a combination of hard (very hard) sense, luck, stubborness, and caprice. And they make so many millions that at times the totals seem almost disgusting.

And such "characters"!

Charles Crocker, so fat the effort of carrying him lathered his horse to a walk, so egotistical that he could sponsor one of the most ludicrous biographies in existence, so shrewd or so lucky that at the end he could say with truth he never had lost on a deal he himself managed.

Leland Stanford, according to his partner, Collis P. Huntington, "a damned old fool," and according to Alfred Cohen, long-time Southern Pacific attorney, a man with "the ambition of an emperor and the spite of a peanut vendor." Ambrose Bierce used to print the name with a British pound sign for the L, a dollar mark for the S.

Huntington, cold, hard, shrewd, according to the San Francisco "Examiner" "ruthless as a crocodile," strong as an ox, a saver as well as a maker.

And Uncle Mark Hopkins, who was the balance wheel while he lived and who really preferred to live in a cottage and raise his own vegetables in the back yard, but whose vast money was the heart of a fantastic comedy once he had died.

Could Mr. Lewis have chosen more delightful material?

Girdler Faces Committee, Defends Republic Policies

STEEL CHIEF RELATES HIS STRIKE STORY

Board Chairman Expected to Answer SWOC Head's Charge on Industrial Relations.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Tom Girdler, chairman of the board of the Republic Steel corporation, demanded today a senate investigation of "violence and intimidation" by the CIO in last summer's "little steel" strike

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—Tom M. Girdler, chairman of the board of Republic Steel Corporation and militant opponent of organized labor, testifies today before the senate civil liberties committee.

His defense of Republic's labor policies will culminate an exhaustive congressional investigation of the "Little Steel" strike of 1937.

While Girdler is being questioned by Chairman Robert M. La Follette (Prog., Wis.), the National Labor Relations board will hear oral arguments on its proposed decision finding Republic guilty of violating the Wagner act.

The board proposes to order the company to reinstate 5,000 "Little Steel" strikers with back pay.

Fourth Week of Hearing.

For almost four weeks La Follette has been examining witnesses in an attempt to determine whether civil rights were violated during the strike by the Committee for Industrial Organization to organize all employes of the steel industry into one big union.

He has developed evidence of labor espionage by Republic and by the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company, and has found apparent discrepancies between the testimony of lesser Republic officials and that of Girdler when he appeared before the senate post office committee.

In addition to answering questions of the committee Girdler has a score to settle with Philip Murray, director of the Steel Workers Organizing committee which failed to win a contract at Republic plants. As a witness at the current hearings, Murray attacked Republic's tactics as "reprehensible" and described the company as a "cesspool of industrial relations."

It was Murray's remarks that brought Girdler to the hearings But the feud goes back farther than that, for Girdler called Murray a liar in last year's post office hearing.

Girdler is not under an individual subpoena, although covered by a blanket subpoena for Republic officials. Republic's general counsel, T. F. Patton, requested permission for him to appear after Murray's testimony.

Government Takes Hand In Problem Of Railway Wages

CHICAGO— (U.P.) —The government tackled the railway wage question today.

The full national mediation board of three planned to confer with the 15-member carriers' joint conference committee, representing 142 class I railroads, on the railroads' demand that their 929,500 rail employes take a 15 per cent wage cut — approximately $250,000,000 a year.

The carriers ordered the cut, they said, because they have failed to obtain adequate freight rate increases, one means with which they had hoped to straighten out their financial plight.

In direct negotiations during the past three weeks between the railroads and brotherhoods representing the employes, union leaders have stood on counter-demands that the carriers reduce their over-burdening capital structures instead of reducing payrolls. They said they would take a vote for a nation-wide strike rather than agree to a cut.

Idaho Gives New Deal First Primary Blow

Up and Down THE STREET

In one of the few "write-in" campaigns in the primaries here Tuesday, John Hess former bookkeeper in the city water and garbage department during the McFarland administration, came through with flying colors. He was elected Republican precinct committeeman in 1-C by a "write-in" vote of 43 to 23 over a former fellow worker, Raymond Hines, who also was a bookkeeper in the same department during the previous administration.

It takes an average of 14 rides to reach New York from Mansfield via the hitch hiking route, according to Richard Nagle, captain of this year's Mansfield high football team, and Joe Majoy, a teammate of last year. The two Mansfield boys thumbed their way to the big city as a "lark" recently, and it took them 11 rides and a couple of days to get there and 17 to return. Their experiences were many and varied and included sleeping one night in a Hershey, Pa., cemetry.

When O. L Seybold and Fred Leitzy attended the annual convention of the National Association of Piano Tuners, Inc., in Cincinnati this week, they were introduced to the new chromaticstroboscope. (Note to linotype operator: No, you aren't seeing things. There are 20 letters and six syllables). The new instrument detects in musical instruments and choral groups what the fluoroscope does in the lungs and the stethoscope in the heart—if there's an inharmonious note. While the machine may never come into general usage, especially in homes and cafes, it might be especially recommended for Sweet Adeline quartets. It would register instantly at the first "sour" note.

Glenn P. Freeman, Richland county deputy sheriff, was having his troubles today, troubles that come along with an attack of laryngitis. Working as chief jailer this morning, he coughed and sputtered and tried his best to talk with jail callers and answer telephone calls in an understandable voice. He finally steered clear of such tasks and left the answers up to fellow deputies.

TVA Committee Still Probing Berry Marble Lease.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn.—(INS)—The $5,000,000 that U. S. Sen. George L. Berry failed to get out of the government for his leased marble lands flooded by the TVA still occupied a congressional investigation committee here today.

The chief witness before the committee yesterday was Evans Dunn, chief counsel for the TVA, who directed the condemnation suit for the property under lease by Sen. Berry and associates.

Dunn charged flatly that the government had won its case in spite of Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, former chairman, who was ousted by President Roosevelt.

Dr. Morgan had previously asserted he forced the condemnation suit after the other two TVA directors agreed to conciliate the claims entered by Sen. Berry and associates.

The uprising was quelled after three Chinese were killed and more than 100 injured. A number of Chinese prisoners were said to have escaped.

The riot began when municipal police refused the Chinese troops permission to hoist the Chinese Nationalist flag.

DAVEY SUPPORTERS SUFFER SAME FATE AT POLLS AS THEIR CHIEF

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—The surge of votes which cost Gov. Martin L. Davey a third-term nomination in Tuesday's primary also swept away the renomination aspirations of some of his staunchest supporters in the state senate, unofficial returns showed today.

Majority Leader Keith Lawrence and Bert McIntyre went down to defeat in their contest for Democratic renomination in the 25th district where Cuyahoga county voters turned against the administration.

Anti-Davey "hatchet men" also fared badly, although incumbents William M. Boyd and Tom L. Gallagher, both of Cleveland, topped the six Democratic senatorial nominees from that northern Ohio industrial district.

"Hatchet men" victims included J. Ralph Seidner of Youngstown, chairman of last fall's senate graft-hunting committee, John Taylor of Salem, William F. Hurley of Lorain and H. D. Byrne of Kent.

Hurley, representing the 27th-29th district, which includes Richland county, was defeated by Maurice Brown, also of Lorain.

In all 11 members of the once dominant senate group sought renomination for election in November to 36 seats in the upper chamber. Deaths and resignations had shorn the clique of much of its power prior to the primary, however.

Taylor's defeat was attributed to recriminations against him by John F. Nolan, Jefferson county Democratic chairman, as the result of disclosures by the senate investigating committee.

Eight Democrats and 16 Republicans won senatorial renomination unopposed. About a dozen incumbents were defeated for renomination to the house but at least 40 Democrats and 34 Republicans were without opposition for places on November ballots.

HELD IN DEATH

Millersburg Autoist Arrested After Car Kills Man, 54.

MILLERSBURG — Authorities today held Walter Tressell, 54, of Millersburg, in connection with the death of Wyler Bilderback, 54, of near here, who was instantly killed last night a mile west of Millersburg on state route 39 by a hit-skip driver.

Tressell was arrested a short while after the accident. Police said that his car bore evidence of an accident as the fender on the right side was badly damaged.

Bilderback is survived by two sisters, Mary and Lydia, with whom he made his home; and three brothers, Lawrence, at home, Walter of Savannah and Arthur of Wooster. The body was removed to the Hunter funeral home Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Ohioan Meets Death as He Seeks Shelter From Rain.

LIMA— (U.P.) —Guy Speary, 35, of Lima, was electrocuted today when he stepped on an electric trap set for trespassers while seeking shelter during a rainstorm

Authorities said Speary's damp clothing probably made the shock fatal. Wilson was held by police pending an investigation

BACKS BARKLEY FOR PRESIDENCY

Senator Logan Favors Brother Kentuckian for White House.

WASHINGTON— (AP) —Senator Logan (D.-Ky.) predicted today that Kentucky delegates to the 1940 Democratic convention would boost Senator Barkley for the presidential nomination. He added that he had no knowledge of whether Barkley would desire the nomination.

Logan reiterated his opinion that the president would not seek a third term, but said, "If the president should be nominated, he would be elected."

ARKANSAS AND OHIO LINE UP FOR PRESIDENT

Mrs. Caraway, Bulkley, Both Administration Supporters, Victors in Elections.

(By United Press)

ARKANSAS—Idaho's Democratic primary today produced the first reduction in the New Deal's senate strength.

President Roosevelt lost a 100 per cent supporter in Sen. James P. Pope, D. Ida., who was unseated by Rep D. Worth Clark, a self-styled conservative who courted—and apparently received—Republican support.

Win in Ohio, Arkansas.

Of the three senatorial contests in Tuesday's primaries, however, the New Deal won two—in Ohio and Arkansas In both the president has indicated his desire to have the incumbents, Sens. Robert J. Bulkley, (D. O.,) and Hattie W. Caraway, (D. Ark.) renominated. During his recent trans-continental trip, he referred to both as his friends.

Bulkley was renominated by a two to one margin. Mrs. Caraway, however, was pressed harder by her opponent, Rep. John L. McClellan. On the basis of almost complete returns she held a small but comfortable margin.

Mr. Roosevelt, on his way back to Washington after nearly a month's absence on a fishing vacation, made no comment on the results. But they apparently had no effect upon his determination to urge the primary nomination of outright New Dealers, opposed by candidates he has described as "yes, but" supporters.

Backs Georgia Man.

Entering Georgia yesterday, he declared for U. S. district attorney Lawrence Camp, candidate for senator against Sen. Walter F. George. It was understood that in one of his two speeches today he would say more about his opposition to George.

Although Mr. Roosevelt had said nothing in behalf of Pope, the New Deal was a clear cut issue in the Idaho primary. National Democratic Committee Chairman James A. Farley had spoken in his behalf, and Secretary of State Cordell Hull had praised his position on the administration's reciprocal trade treaty program.

LEWIS CLAIMS CREDIT IN OHIO

Says Defeat of Davey Was Due to CIO, Non-Partisan League.

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— Chairman John L. Lewis of the Committee for Industrial Organization and of labor's non-partisan league said today that "progressive forces in Ohio", led by his two organizations, were responsible for the defeat of Democratic Gov. Martin L Davey and the renomination of Sen. Robert J. Bulkley.

"Governor Davey presented a clear cut issue", Lewis said in a formal statement. "He campaigned as the puppet of the most reactionary corporate interest in Ohio.

"The defeat of Gov. Davey and the nomination of Sen. (Alben W.) Barkley in Kentucky constitute a complete vindication of the progressive policies of the CIO and labor's non-partisan league."

FAIR ENOUGH!

Doctors Robbed By a Lot Of Charity Cases, Who Could Pay If They Would

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—The problem of medical and surgical treatment for the masses is cluttered with undeserved pity for people who have convinced themselves that they can't pay the doctor for easing their pains or saving their lives, but could do so if they tried.

The doctors of this country give away more free goods off their shelves than the members of any other profession, including the actors and musicians, who come next. They have their gyps and rotters, their publicity-crazed hams and ignoramuses, but they do more good for suffering humanity and in critical moments than the members of any other calling.

Of course, it will be argued that they should do this because they are in a position to That is their job. But the fact is, nevertheless, that they do give this service, and it is a further fact that society doesn't appreciate the good they do.

People overemphasize their mistakes of judgment or negligence, forgetting that a doctor's mistake is more likely to have fatal or, anyway, dreadful consequences.

If the work of a plumber springs a leak, if a grocer sends snookies instead of snackies, or if a reporter names W. C. Smith as correspondent in the divorce story when it should have been W. G. Smith, that means very little paint off anyone's fenders. But let a doctor make a comparable mistake and there is all hell to pay.

There are many phases of the question, but I mean to stick to this one for today's lesson. I am thinking of those who think that $200 is an outrageous price to pay for the removal of an appendix which has developed the menacing nature of a bomb in the patient's inwards.

The surgeon gets the victim into a hospital as quickly as possible, gives him a job of something to relax him and in a very short time is delving around in his giblets without 50 cents on the line to pay for laundering his smock.

So the patient gets well, and when the bad news comes he forgets that feeling as of a litter of porcupines frisking about in his abdomen, and calls the doctor a burglar.

Why, he makes only $25 a week, so, instead of paying the doctor a dollar a week, as he would pay the installment man for the radio or sewing machine, his policy is to skip it entirely. He forgets, also, that if the surgeon hadn't done his stuff promptly and well, specialized stuff that nobody but a surgeon could have done, his family would be on the town right now.

If a patient can pay small amounts to a co-operative over a spell of years for treatment which he may need in the future, he can just as well pay a doctor a stated amount each week over a long term for treatment which he has already received. But in too many cases he just won't.

Many doctors nowadays serve patients in the public clinics who are able to pay reasonable professional rates for their treatment. In this way the doctor is compelled to rob his own family of the just rewards of his work so that other men's families may deadhead it.

Patients lie about their income and pretend to be in tatters who ought to be told to decide which they value more, their money or their lives. And the ethics of the profession and sentimental sympathy for the invalid are such that if the patient were asked to stand for a frisk to prove his inability to pay, that would be a callous outrage and the doctor would be an extortioner.

But there is no great wrong in that, considering how minutely the people's affairs are searched by the income tax men.

Hollywood Speaks—

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Let's get in the middle today of the oldest internal feud in the movie production family. It's a feud to make the more publicized hates of the stars seem like polite disagreements about the weather. So let's be ready to duck.

In this corner we have the director. In this, the associate producer—or call him supervisor, or any of the names some directors call some associate producers. Ladies had best stick to the term "associate producer" or "supervisor"

The director is the guy who gets out on the set and tells people—actors, cameramen, props, electricians, offstage noises, everybody—what to do for each scene of the picture.

The associate producer is the guy in the office. He is the middleman, the go-between, and often the patsy.

* * *

The executive producer (i e Zanuck, Jack Warner, Louis B Mayer, etc.) has delegated to him authority and responsibility for one or more features. He's supposed to have ideas for pictures and to carry them out through hiring writers, talent (including a director) and the necessary staff He's supposed to see that it all jells into a wow-wow of a movie The contestants introduced, we are ready for the gong. Gong!

Not all directors hate all associate producers The Screen Directors' Guild—in its recent analysis of movie ills—had naught but "praise and recognition" for the works of many.

But the "army of the inept . . . unqualified, inexperienced . . . utterly lacking in creative ability" (the analysis charges) is costing the industry a pretty penny while movie quality goes down. There were 220 last year—producers, associates, supervisors — compared to a mere 34 ten years before. Hollywood turned out only 484 features in 1936-37 compared to 743 ten years before. The overhead mounts and waste goes on.

That's the substance of the charge. The associate producers—as a body—haven't answered. But I've been in on some informal discussions, and here's the picture:

1. Like the directors, the associate producers admit that in their midst are some who ought not to be in their midst. ("There is no desire on our part," said the Directors' Guild, "to absolve the director of some of the responsibility, and one of the intentions of the guild is to undertake self-discipline. . . . ")

2. The caliber of associate producers is generally higher than it used to be, in days when producers' relatives, stooges, and yesmen took over the jobs. (I can hear some directors muttering, "In days WHEN?")

3. This one hurts. It's the directors who account for 80 per cent of the "waste" on the sets—inability to make up their minds, resulting in too many "takes," delayed schedules, overtime pay for crew and extras Instance cited: one director made 42 "takes" of one scene, used the second! (See the guild analysis remarks on self-discipline.)

4. There were just as many supervisors 10 years ago, but they didn't get screen credit. (The analysis in its 10-year comparison noted credited directors, didn't specify credited supervisors.)

So where are we? In the middle? Not me! I just ducked.

Father Takes Boy's First Money

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I graduated from high school this summer, and am 17 years of age. The week after graduation I got a job as office boy, which pays me 12.50 a week. I'm wild to go to college, even if it's only to attend evening classes, and work day-times. But I wanted to spend part of that first week's salary in getting a cool suit—a cotton suit—as I'm wearing the heavy woolen clothes I wore all winter.

I expected to pay about $8 or $9 for the clothes, and give a little present of about $2 to mother, and I expected to save out a little lunch money, enough for a drug-store lunch. But father insisted upon my turning the entire pay envelope over to him. Father drinks more than is good for him, and I was sore when I wasn't allowed to keep any of my first money and had to take a sandwich to the office for lunch, like a grade-school kid

Sore.

Your letter reveals one of the real tragedies of youth. Where parents are so desperately poor that every penny is required to feed younger children, it's a case of "needs must." But that your father should take your first money to buy liquor is pretty sad.

As you have in view the ambition to go to college, and give you more opportunities in life, my advice to you is to start a bank account, give your mother her present, and save out for your lunches. Don't regard father's thirst as a sacred obligation; it isn't.

Hints For Making Preserves

By ALICE LYNN BARRY

MANY A BRAND-NEW bride will give a thought to putting up a batch of jam or conserves, only to dismiss the idea because she thinks it is too difficult. But it really is an easy job, thanks to modern methods

Spiced ripe peach jam with Brazil nuts calls for three and one-half cups (one and three-quarters pounds) prepared fruit, one-quarter cup lemon juice, seven and one half cups (three and one-quarter pounds) sugar, one cup sliced Brazil nuts and one bottle fruit pectin. To prepare fruit, peel about two and one-half pounds ripe peaches and grind or chop very fine. Add teaspoon cinnamon, clove and allspice, or any desired spice combination, to peaches. Squeeze juice from two medium lemons. Slice nuts very thin. Add to fruit mixture Measure sugar and prepared fruit, solidly packed, into large kettle, mix well and bring to full, rolling boil over hottest fire. Stir constantly before and while boiling Boil hard one minute. Remove from fire and stir in bottled fruit pectin. Then stir and skim by turns for just five minutes to cool quickly and prevent floating fruit. Pour quickly. Paraffin hot jam at once. This recipe makes about 10 six-ounce glasses.

Ginger-Pear Jam.

Ginger and ripe pear jam is another exotic mixture that is grand enough to use for gift purposes. Four cups (two pounds) prepared fruit, one-half to one cup diced ginger, seven and one-half cups sugar and one bottle of fruit pectin will yield about 11 six-ounce glasses. To prepare the fruit, peel, core and crush completely or grind about three pounds fully ripe pears. Dice about one-half pound crystalized ginger. Measure sugar and prepared fruit, solidly packed, into large kettle. Add ginger, mix well and bring to full rolling boil (this is essential) over hottest fire Stir constantly before and while boiling. Boil hard for one minute. Remove from fire and stir in bottled fruit pectin Then stir and skim by turns for just five minutes to cool slightly and prevent floating fruit.

Diet Plays Part In Tooth Health

By MME. QUI VIVE

Observe the photographs of pretty ladies in newspapers and magazines and you come to the conclusion that the universal sisterhood is hollering with laughter. All have broad smiles. It must be that all photographers are humorists. Anyhow, teeth are in the public eye, all right. Bright-colored rouge forms a frame that makes teeth noticeable. Without good teeth beauty's hopes are blasted.

Despite the best personal and professional care one may have dental griefs. Teeth appear to have no resistance. Caries form frequently, necessitating the use of the dentist's little buzz-saw that everybody hates. For that reason it is believed that unsound teeth may be the result of some diet deficiency. Surveys show that children who have a balanced diet have little need of professional treatment, other than the semi-yearling examination and cleaning

Teeth change in character after they are fully formed, which suggests that poor nutrition is the cause of these changes. Women are learning more and more about food values, the need of making food appetizing. When we have a world of good and wise cooks a lot of our beauty woes will evaporate.

That mysterious stranger, vitamin C, is supposed to be what the white pearls need. It lurks in orange juice, lettuce, tomatoes. It lodges in fresh peas, raw cabbage and spinach. If you'll eat pineapples, raspberries, peaches and apples, you'll be benefitted by this good friend to health and beauty.

Many a dentist believes that few of us get enough calcium, so milk is recommended, or dicalcium phosphate tablets. A quart of milk a day will make teeth riotously happy. Pay the milkman and cheat the dentist. Cod liver oil is prescribed when teeth are soft, inclined to crumble. If you'll get out in the sunshine each day you'll bank up the vitamins the oil supplies.

The gums should be watched. The natural color is a deep, rich coral. If the tissues are pale or grey, something is wrong. Dip your finger in a dentrifice, give the gums a light friction before using the toothbrush. When gums have little vitality, they break and recede. The formation of tartar along the bases of the teeth and up under the gums is a source of irritation. The dentist will remove these barnacles with his little pickaxes. At least twice a year this treatment should be given.

Don't economize on tooth brushes. Have several so you can always have a dry one Moist bristles are too soft to remove thoroughly foreign particles. Use a rolling motion so the bristles will polish the sides of the teeth. Rinse the mouth well. If the gums are faintly colored use a strong salt solution.

Marriage Meddlers

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

KATHERINE LOOKED uncertainly at me as Queen Olga requested that Olina be permitted to occupy the same room with her.

I was sure, remembering my father's instructions, that he meant to have the exiled queen of Transvania and her daughter occupy the room with the barred windows which had been Mary's and which Katie was even now preparing for the use of the two guests whom my father had specified without giving their names.

It was Lillian who came to the rescue. Lillian, who, I realized must be cognizant of my father's plans.

"I am sure that can be arranged," she said easily. "That room of Mary's is plenty big enough for two, isn't it, Madge?"

Catches Cue.

I caught her cue, and knew, as I had suspected from my first glimpse of the royal refugees, that my father had meant Queen Olga and her daughter when he had said, "prepare the barred room for two guests."

"Oh yes," I said modulating my voice to a careful casualness. "There is plenty of room there for you both to be very comfortable."

And then Queen Olga surprised me "out of a year's growth," as the children say.

"Is that the room Mr. Spencer said had bars on it?" she queried.

My careful camouflage slipped away. I had not dreamed that she knew of the plans made for her safety.

"Yes," I said quickly. "That room has bars, and they are very secure"

She sighed with distinct relief.

"I am so glad," she said. "Dr. Spencer said there would be bars, and that you would lock us in that room, and hide the key whenever you thought there was danger."

"And so we will," Katherine said quickly. "So you see there is nothing at all for you to worry about. Just lie still now, while we wait for the men to come and carry you upstairs. Your daughter will stay with you."

She stepped back a pace as Olina sat down by her mother's side and put her warm hands over her mother's cold ones.

"I'm right here, Maman," she said with infinite sweetness in her tone, and I realized, not for the first time, how strong was the bond between this exiled mother and daughter, so far from all they held dear.

"My beloved child," Olga said, lifting her wasted hand to stroke her daughter's cheek.

"My Darling Maman!" the girl said, huskily capturing the hand in hers. With an approving nod, Katherine left them together and came over to where Lillian and I were standing together at the far side of the room.

"Well You put it over, didn't you?" she queried, smiling.

Wonder About Doors.

"Of course I did," I replied, unabashed "It worked, didn't it?"

"Oh! I always have to slip it to you," she retorted, and then Lillian put a query which gave me a distinct start.

"Are all your outside doors locked?" she murmured.

"I'm sure they are," I returned, "but I'll make doubly sure."

I started for the door, but she was instantly at my side.

"I'm coming with you," she said. "How about it, Katrina? Okay?"

"I don't need either of you, if that's what you mean," Katherine answered with a gamin grin, but keeping her voice inaudible to our guests. "And while you're gone, better put an adrenalin injection into the supper preparations. I think Olina could do with a spot of food, and I'd like to have a tray for Olga when I get her safely settled in her room."

"You shall have everything you wish," I told her, smiling, and then Lillian and I were outside, going down the corridor toward the door.

"We'll check the doors," Lillian said when we were safely out of earshot of the dining room. "but I'm sure they're locked Harry was on the job. But I wanted to get you alone. What's the matter with the Dicky-bird?"

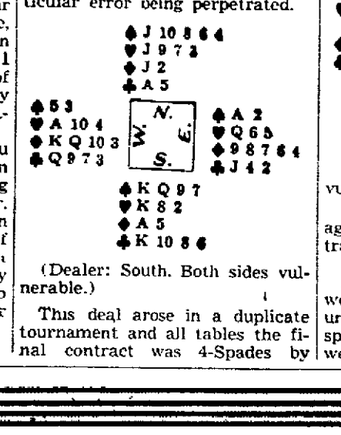
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

MAKING IT DIFFICULT

Expert play of some hands consists chiefly of giving the defenders as many chances as possible to make mistakes. Other things being equal, the method which offers several ways for the opponents to err has an obviously better hope of success than one which depends entirely on a particular error being perpetrated.



(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

This deal arose in a duplicate tournament and all tables the final contract was 4-Spades by South. Where the defense was perfect, the contract was set with the loss of one spade, two hearts and one diamond.

In all instances, the diamond K was led and won with the A. The clubs A and K were next cashed. One declarer then played a diamond which was won by West who erred in returning a heart, limiting South's heart losers to one.

Another player ruffed a third club before letting the opponents in and then played a spade, which East won. If East had now returned a spade, club or heart, the contract would have been assured for South. He returned a diamond and his partner made the mistake of selecting a heart for his return instead of his trump, so the contract was made anyway.

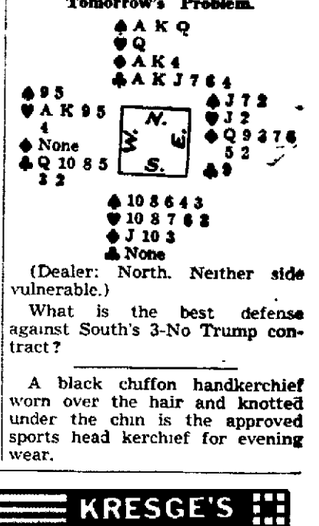
Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer: North. Neither side vulnerable.)

What is the best defense against South's 3-No Trump contract?

Small Bags For Traveling Get Votes of Ladened Women

By ADELAIDE KERR

(AP Fashion Editor)

There is a new luggage recipe for traveling with peace of mind.

It consists of a number of small packets, measured and made to taste, mixed with intelligence, and fitted into one bag. Women find it convenient and comparatively inexpensive.

Many women have complained

Bottle bag of deep green satin-striped rayon.

that the fitted case is heavy, difficult to get into dressing rooms, over-equipped with unneeded containers and lacking in those containers they do require.

So they have begun to "mix their own.' They take one bag of comfortable size—light enough for air travel—and fill it with just the containers their personal needs demand, and no more.

Take Your Choice.

"There are silk cases lined with contrasting satin or kid-finished rubber to hold virtually every toilet article and many wardrobe items," says Miss Janet Quinlan of the staff of a leading travel case designer. "They come in a variety of soft colors and can be individualized by initials."

First in nearly every woman's selection comes a bottle bag, handsome as a quilted handbag, lined with kid-finished rubber to prevent staining, and either fitted with individual bottles and jars or left empty for individual filling.

Next choice is made from a great variety of large and small silk envelopes to hold girdles, lingerie, stockings, handkerchiefs, gloves, etc. These prevent that frantic scrambing for a pair of evening hose or blue gloves.

To this can be added pocket-fitted rolls for jewels, or pins and needles and rubber-lined cases for soap, face-cloth and hot water bottle.

Carry a Clothesline.

There are also a number of inexpensive gadgets such as cases fitted with tiny spools, thimble and scissors, rubber-lined cases holding little clothespins and a line, and carry-all bags into which you can cram anything left outside your luggage by accident.

Clothes pins and spools in one travel gadget.

Other useful tricks are plastic, nested cold-cream jars (lighter than glass) whose several sections can be screwed together; and compact lozenges which expand in water to become face cloths which may be discarded after use.

The idea is to stick to one color and choose only what you need.
